The King's Daughters: Get the Money They Want

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—It is with great thankfulness that we can report that owing to the generosity of the Shanghai public we have achieved our object of raising $10,000. Our total receipts to date are $10,095, and although our special time of appeal is over for the present, we are still grateful for any gifts from those who have not yet responded.

We would like to express our gratitude for the co-operation of the following, without whose aid we could not have had such a successful drive:—Station X.M.H.A., Brigadier Morris for his eloquent broadcast; the "North-China Daily News; the "Shanghai Times"; the "Shanghai Evening Post & Mercury"; the "China Press"; Gray's Yellow Lantern Shop and Mr. R. H. Felgate.

MABEL JANSEN.
President.

Shanghai's Health: Necessity for Insecticides

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Can any of your readers, more especialy the R. W. D., explain why there are no water carts to be seen here, or the brush carts we used to have? They have been absent now for three years, have they been sold to the Japanese?

I see another European has been a victim of that dread disease typhus. Is it any wonder? I would ask you to walk any morning, as I must do, from the Kiangse Road bridge to the Bund.

At the corner of Kiangse Road and Hongkong Road opposite the water-tower two beggar women sit and de-louse themselves in the sun. Further down after crossing Szechuen Road a group of hand-cart coolies are "searching" themselves for lice; still further along the same road, Hongkong and Chapoo, another group of hand-cart coolies picking lice; and finally at the corner of Yuen Ming Yuen Road and Soochow, under the walls of the Union Church Hall, dozens of filthy coolies lying about in their dirt, and a children's school only a stone's throw away.

Is it fair to us ratepayers to be exposed to such dangers. Surely sprinkle-carts with a strong insecticide is necessary now in these days of refugees and coolies!

ANXIOUS.

The Prime Minister: Courage from his Writing

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Surely every Briton in Shanghai will feel even greater confidence in the abilities of our Prime Minister, Mr. Winston Churchill, if they read his remarkable book "Step by Step," of which it has been truly said it points like a signpost to the present disasters.

There is one passage which should give us courage in these anxious days. It is at the conclusion of the chapter, "After Munich":—

> It is a crime to despair. We must learn to draw from misfortune the means of future strength. There must not be lacking in our leadership something of the spirit of that Austrian corporal who, when all had fallen into ruins about him, and when Germany seemed to have sunk for ever into chaos, did not hesitate to march forth against the vast array of victorious nations, and has already turned the tables so decisively upon them. It is the hour, not for despair, but for courage and rebuilding; and that is the spirit which should rule our minds.

Seventy Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS," OF JUNE 22, 1870

We are glad to see that Messrs. Bower, Hanbury & Co., have allowed the Council to cut off the corner of their property at the corner of Nanking and Kiangse Roads. The improvement was badly needed, and the community are indebted to Mr. Hanbury and other property owners who have sacrificed slices of their compounds to rectify the errors of former days. There are still many cases in which the example might be followed with advantage; and we hope the Council will not rest in its endeavours to get the consent of the owners.

BUICK'S POWER is BUICK'S GLORY

Buick's "micropoised" Dynaflash Valve-in-Head straight-eight engine is more efficient because of its valve-in-head design — more frugal because Dynaflash compression gets more good out of every drop of fuel. It is the only engine which is electrically balanced after assembly to micropoised perfection, its velocity smoothed to velvet.

On its power plant alone, to say nothing of its numerous other advantages, your best "buy" is Buick.

Joe Louis Scores T.K.O. Over Champion of Chile

Arturo Godoy Mercilessly Punished; Referee Stops Bout in 8th After Two Knockdowns

New York, June 20.

ANY doubts remaining in the minds of boxing enthusiasts about the punch-and-murder powers of Joe Louis were completely dispelled here tonight when he re-established himself as the ring's "super-killer" by scoring a technical knockout in eight rounds over Arturo Godoy, the rugged challenger who foiled him so adroitly for 15 rounds last February. Scene of the crime was packed by row on row of open-mouthed witnesses. The time required for its perpetration was one minute and 24 seconds of the eighth frame. Referee Billy Cavanaugh halted what was developing from merciless punishment into massacre to give Louis the nod via the TKO route.

After Cavanaugh stopped the fight, Godoy ran over to Louis' corner and begged the champion for a chance to continue the fight. Efforts by his seconds and the referee to pull him back to his own corner were of no avail, and it was not until police entered the ring that some semblance of order was restored.

Champion's Hardest Punches

Cavanaugh lifted Godoy from the canvas and declared Louis the winner after the brave Chilean warrior had been floored twice by tremendous right hands thrown with all the thundering power in the Brown Bomber's shoulders. They were probably the hardest punches ever thrown by the champion.

Although on the defensive all through the bout, Godoy first got into serious difficulties in the seventh, when a smashing left hook was followed by a right cross to the mouth that spread his lips over his face in a smear and sprinkled blood in a red rain over the press row.

Gory Sight

At the finish Godoy was apparently helpless. He was spouting small fountains of blood from gashes over his left eye, his cheek and his mouth.

Both fighters were in perfect condition. But of the two, Louis was in deadly earnest this morning when they appeared before the Commission to weigh in. Godoy seemed in high spirits and full of confidenre.

Louis weighed 199½ pounds, two pounds under his tonnage for his last three fights. Godoy came in at 201½, one pound over his weight for the last Louis fight.—United Press.

Furious Attack

In retaining his title for the 11th time, Louis was lethargic in the early rounds, although he went ahead by a wide margin near the end. He seemed to be waiting for an opening and was content to plug away, concentrating on Godoy's gashed eye until the big chance came in the seventh round.

As Godoy missed with a right to the negro's head and as he was half bent, Louis straightened him with a smashing right uppercut to the chin. Godoy staggered and then sank to the canvas as the Brown Bomber smashed his head with rights and lefts. Godoy took a count of five when the bell rang. The Chilean's seconds worked on him frantically and the doctor examined his eye.

He came out for the eighth round in a low crouch. He tried to clinch but the Brown Bomber pushed him away and launched another smashing barrage of uppercuts and hooks. Louis sent Godoy down with a hard right near the middle of the ring for a count of eight.

The referee wiped off Godoy's gloves as he rose but Louis did not give him a chance to recover, landing with a series of left hooks. Godoy again went down, this time near the ropes.

First Knockout

Without starting to count, Referee Cavanaugh lifted him and halted the bout. It was Godoy's first knockout in nine years of professional fighting. For the first time Referee Arthur Donovan was a spectator at a fight in which Louis participated here.

Despite badly puffed lips and half-closed eyes, Godoy told newspapermen in his dressing room that he would demand another crack at Louis. "He would never have tagged me, if it hadn't been for that eye. I could hardly see after the first round," he said.—United Press.

Schoolboys Show Cricket Prowess

P.T.H. School Wins an Exciting Game Against An S.C.C. XI

With Rudden, last man in for the Public & Thomas Hanbury School XI at the S.C.C. Small Ground yesterday evening, taking the crease, four runs were still needed for victory over an S.C.C. side which, the previous day had scored the excellent total of 173. The batsman played the first two balls he received from Lawrance with care and then let fly at the third to score a boundary and thus win a most exciting game for the boys by the slim margin of one wicket. The innings was played out and the final total reached 178.

Mainly responsible for the biggest upset yet witnessed this season in these two-evening matches were von Wunder and Tingle. The former scored a patient 65 and was at the crease for 100 minutes during which time 168 runs were recorded. Tingle banged up a splendid 47 in quick time and through the efforts of these two victory was assured.

Leslie Lawrance bowled very well with his slow leg spinners, claiming seven wickets for only 43 runs in seven overs.

The scholars began poorly, Gates disturbing Novgorodoff's stumps in his first over. Quincey and von Wunder then pushed the total up to 39 at which point the former was bowled by Lawrance. At the same total Viatkin and Onlee were disposed of, Lawrance being the successful bowler on each occasion.

Tingle then entered the fray and cracking out right and left soon quickened the scoring. He and his partner, who was playing very steadily, kept their ends going until they had added 84 for the fifth wicket. When the board read 123 Tingle was bowled for an excellent 47 which included no less than eight hits to the tapes.

The succeeding batsman all did well and with von Wunder well set victory was in sight. At 168, however, von Wunder was well held by Cornfield for a most valuable 65. The outgoing bat's best hits were one fine six and nine fours.

The ninth wicket fell at 169 but Rudden made no mistake when he came in to win a very closely contested encounter.

Dodgers Move Back Into National League Lead

Tigers Slip Down to Third; Yankees Beaten When White Sox Break Scoreless Tie

New York, June 20.

THE Brooklyn Dodgers moved back into the National League today without playing a game because the Cincinnati Reds lost to the Philadelphia Athletics, while the Cleveland Indians gained the American League lead after the Boston Red Sox dropped a double-header to the St. Louis Browns.

The double beating which they suffered not only caused the Red Sox to slip to second place but resulted in their topping the Detroit Tigers only by .004 per cent.

The Reds were unable to garner more than 8 hits off the deliveries of Higbe and Awtood. The Phil hurlers bore down in the clutch to keep the Reds well in check and give the Quakers a 4-3 victory.

Chuck Klein was the big noise for the Phils, driving in all four of the team's runs with three hits, including a home run..

Fletcher Hits Three Doubles

A trio of doubles by Fletcher drove four runs across the plate and enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are rallying strongly, to beat the Boston Bees, 8-7.

In the only other National League game, Harry Danning paced the New York Giants to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs with three hits in three times at bat.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox shut out the New York Yankees for the second straight day and by an identical score, 1-0. Bill Rigney, hurling for the Hose, gave up only five hits. But, although the Sox collected 11 safeties from Pearson, they were forced to 11 innings before Kennedy singled Tresh home with the only run of the game. The clash was played under protest owing to a disputed catch by Solters of the Sox in the second inning.

High-Price McCoy Homers

Home runs by Brancato and McCoy provided the Philadelphia Athletics with the margin of victory over the Detroit Tigers, 6-4, while the Cleveland Indians, meanwhile, blasted out a 12-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Mack's triple with the bases full followed by Bob Feller's doube iced the game for the Tribe in the third frame.

The St. Louis Browns continued to win, defeating the Boston Red Sox by a score of 2-1 when Harlan Clift clouted a home run in the ninth inning.

In the nightcap, the Browns walloped the Red Sox, 11-4.

Lawn Bowls Pairs Championship

Nearly All of 30 First Round Matches Completed; Results to Date

The first round of the lawn bowls Pairs Championship is nearing completion with a goodly portion of the 30 matches having already been played off. Actually the closing date for this round was set for Sunday, June 16, but as the weather on that day proved inclement, an extension was made by the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association and the various competitors are making an effort to complete their fixtures before the end of this week.

Up to the present, five engagements remain to be played. These, however, should provide interest as both the champion pair and runners-up of last season have yet to play. It may be recalled that the title was won last year by the Police combination of R. Conduit and S. Craig while A. M. Souza and F. M. F. Gutierrez took second place. Both these pairs will be playing off their respective matches this evening.

Following are the results of engagements completed up to yesterday:—

A. H. Corveth and E. C. J. Pereira defeated A. M. Buchanan and L. A. Greenhalgh; G. V. Jensen and W. T. Manley defeated C. R. Clements and T. G. d'Almeida; E. Markland and J. Shute defeated A. M. Nazi Propaganda Also Looks on Sports

Miss Betty Nuthall Still In America

London, June 21.

The Nazis are now turning their propaganda machine on sporting celebrities.

The German radio recently stated that Miss Betty Nuthall, one of Britain's leading women players, had stayed behind in America because of the war.

Her mother described this as nonsense. "Betty was offered a good job in America," she said "and I advised her to accept it."

The Nuthalls are in the hotel business and Betty has had experience in running one. Consequently she was in the position to accept the post of manager and hostess at the Palm Spring Lawn Tennis Club. —Reuter.

Excellent Polo Fixtures Today

Mixed Grill to Meet Culbertson's Four; New Player Featured

By "The Chaser"

Polo will be played this afternoon at the Race Course commencing at half past four with a four chukker practice match between the former favourites in the Army Cup Tournament, Mixed Grill, and Culbertson's team. Following this game the Light Horse will face a Club side in a four chukkers match while the third game will be between the popular old rivals—the B teams of the Light Horse and American Troops.

The Mixed Grill-Culbertson game should produce some good polo and the Mixed Grill are featuring Neppo, who is taking the place of their former number one. It is understood that Neppo is among the leading polo players in Peiping and will make his first appearance here in a game this afternoon. Mixed Grill will be composed of Hornby, Krikoriantz, Neppo and Williams. Culbertson's side—R. B. Moller, Moore, Lacks and Culbertson—is once again sound and all crocks have been temporarily patched up.

The Light Horse appears to be a stronger side than the Club and with the practice they have been putting in recently, experts concede a victory to them this afternoon. The Club side will be represented by Allman, Clark, Macfarlane and Wolfe-Murray. The Light Horse will field their usual team—A. A. White, E. B. Moller, Hughes and Elles.

The third game will feature the B teams of the Light Horse and American Troop and apart from Henry White and Robinson of the Light Horse and Laidlaw of the American Trooper the rest are this year's "recruits."

A pick-up chukker will be played after this match for those who want extra chukkers, or who are not in any of the teams.

The Programme

The programme for this afternoon is as follows:

4.30 p.m.—four chukkers.
Mixed Grill.—Hornby, Krikoriantz, Neppo and Williams.

Difficulties Faces Nazis

Napoleon's Continental System Still Effective In Europe, Declares London "Times"

London, June 21.

IN a leading article entitled "The German Dream" the "Times" writes: "The inspired publicists of the Nazi and Fascist press have been canvassing the prospects of a new European order in which the Imperial obsessions of Rome combined with the megalomania of Berlin."

Pointing out that Germany and Italy already possess a formidable conglomeration of territories, the "Times" continues: "The exploitation of these assets, by the invaders, involves an immense task of administration.

"The Gestapo, this instrument of revenge and terror is not a permanent government. The Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians and Frenchmen, who live in these territories, have behind them a long native tradition of free institutions.

"Others, like the Poles and Czechs, have kept alive their hope and freedom under centuries of oppression, and have refreshed it with twenty years, enjoyment of independence.

Heavy Hand May Not Rule

"A heavy hand, and ruthless suppression, are not the weapons by which proud and highly civilized nations can be organized and governed. The first sign of military reverses or widespread economic distress, which the occupation is doomed to create, would reveal the hollowness of Germany's control.

"Seventy-five million Germans, even assuming they are solid in loyalty to the Nazi cause, cannot permanently hold down 90,000,000 of people united in the hatred of the German yoke.

"Administratively, a German-run, German-ridden, Europe is not merely a nightmare, it is tour de force which Germany cannot maintain," the paper declares.

"Economically, the vision is still more unreal. The mobilization, devastation, and the mass movement of refugees have shattered the economic structure of a large part of Europe.

Shadow of Famine

"Ruined harvests, and the shadow of famine, are lengthening over these stricken countries. But even were these apprehensions overcome, the problem of organising Europe, as a self-contained economic unit, under German control, in defiance of the world, remains insoluble.

"Continental Europe is not, and never has been, self-supporting. It must import metal, alloys, tin, rubber, and oil. In food-stuffs, it is self-sufficient, only at a far lower standard of living than that to which Western Europe, and Germany herself, are accustomed. Even the transport system of the continent is dependent on sea-power. It is often forgotten how much of the normal trade between the Continental countries is sea-borne.

"So long as sea-power is denied the controller of the Continent, the lesson of Napoleon's continental blockade is still doubly valid.

"Cannot Stop There"

"It is well understood that Hitler's domination, even if established, would lack every essential element of stability. Hitler cannot stop there," the "Times" asserts.

"The conquest of Europe involves the conquest, not only of Britain, but of the world. It is no exaggeration to say that Hitler is farther today from his ultimate objective, than last September.

"There must, and will be, a new order in Europe, but it cannot be achieved through conquest, but only through cooperation. It must unite Europe with the non-European world, not divide Europe from it," the newspaper concludes.—Reuter.

Food Prospects in Europe Grave

Germany in Same Position As 1918; Belgium Desperate, All Crops Poor

London, June 21.

The German food situation is authoritatively believed to be comparable to that in March, 1918.

The Belgian situation, it is stated, is desperate, and famine may start in two months. The German authorities admit the necessity of urgently assisting Norway, which imported three quarters of its grain. Poland was invaded at the sowing season, and mobilization seriously interfered with sowing in may other areas: Danubian prospects are said to be particularly poor.

It is believed that Russia is not supplying Germany with any important foods. Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, it is added, must feed Soviet garrisons, instead of exporting to Germany.

Italy, whose standard of living has been falling for a decade and is now below that of Germany, these circles assert, is unable to help. From July 1, which normally is Italy's flushest supply period, bread may contain only 80 per cent. of wheat flour.

France is barely self-supporting at best and now ravaged.

It is reckoned that the winter grain yield of all of Continental Europe will be reduced at least by 25 per cent, possibly 50 per cent., owing to interrupted sowing, hard winter, spring floods, diversion of manpower, military destruction and shortage of horses, fertilizers and oil for machinery.

In contrast with the gloomy food outlook in Nazi-occupied Europe, cables from Ottawa suggest that Canada promises to break all records in grain production. There are nearly 1,500,000 acres more under wheat this year while in the maritime provinces rains have induced excellent growths of pastures and forage crops. In addition, Canada will have a record carry-over of 241,000,000 bushels of wheat with the new season on July 31.—Reuter.

Bombs Explode in N.Y. Offices

Nazi Consulate, Communist Paper Victims

New York, June 21.

Bombs exploded here yesterday a few minutes apart in the offices of the German Consulate and in a building two miles distant in which the national offices of the Communist Party are situated. The Communist newspaper, "The Daily Worker," also has offices in the latter building.

Seven persons were injured in the first explosion but none was injured in the second.

The first bomb was in a package carried by a messenger who was too seriously injured to tell police the circumstances under which he came into possession of the package. The messenger is expected to recover, however.

The other bomb, which police described as being of the home-made variety, was thrown through a basement window into a book store dealing in Communist literature.

The office of the New York District Attorney, Mr. Thomas Dewey, and "G-Men" from the Federal Bureau of Investigation have begun an investigation of the incidents.—United Press.

Fifth Columnists in New Jersey Listed

Thousand Suspects Kept Under Police Eye

Trenton, N.J., June 21.

Over 1,000 persons suspected of being engaged in fifth column activity in New Jersey have been listed and "the list is growing daily," the State Superintendent of Police, Mr. Mark Kimberling, revealed here last night.

"We have made no arrests," Mr. Kimberling said. "You can't arrest a man for his sympathies."

Mr. Kimberling anticipated legislation increasing the state police, enabling him to form an anti-sabotage squad.

"The Government is entitled to know who is seeking to undermine it," he said, "and we know there are more than we have listed."—United Press.

Political Differences Should be Sunk

Simla, June 21.

"I am confident that the people of India will wholeheartedly endorse the determination of the British Government to prosecute the war until the safety of all those things for which we are fighting is secured," declared Lord Linlithgow, the Viceroy, broadcasting to the people of India on June 19.

"No effort will be spared to bring our defence arrangements to the highest pitch. Let me again appeal for the temporary sinking of political differences in this time of trial and for a united effort in which all parties can join for the common good."—Reuter.

Senate Approve Stronger Defences

Emergency Tax Bill Also Adopted; Income Levies To Be Increased

Washington, June 21.

The Senate yesterday approved of the US$1,777,489,788 army and navy appropriations bill and returned it to the House of Representatives for final action.

The Senate later adopted the Administration's emergency defence tax bill designed to raise $1,700,000,000 annually. This bill already has been adopted by the House.

The tax bill increases income tax rates and creates 2,190,000 new taxpayers by reducing the tax exemptions of unmarried persons from $1,000 to $800 and of married persons from $2,500 to $2,000.

The Senate also amended the bill so as to impose new, drastic income taxes to become effective only in the event of war. The amendment would yield an estimated revenue of $8,000,000,000 annually.

This amendment, which the House may reject, further reduces normal exemptions and imposes sur-taxes over a wide range up to 80 per cent. The amendment also would raise corporation income tax rates on a graduated scale up to 22 per cent., not only to provide additional revenue but to eliminate the creation of war millionaires.—United Press.

The newspaper was informed that General Chiang has promised that if he is successful in his mission to the United States, he will be installed as the Chungking Executive Yuan head, as well as Minister of Finance.

Meanwhile, the paper reported, Mr. Shao Li-tzu, newly-appointed Chungking Ambassador to Moscow, recently asked the Kremlin to send Red troops to Siberia in an attempt to check Japan.

Knowing that Britain and France can no longer accord them assistance, the Chungking regime is turning to the United States and Soviet Russia, the paper declared.

Australia to Increase Munitions Output

Federal Treasurer Asks For £20,000,000 More

Canberra, June 21.

The Federal Treasurer announced in the House of Representatives that an additional £20,000,000 was being sought for speeding up munitions production.

Government plans provide for the opening of new factories for the production of additional types of munitions and weapons with an increased range, including anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns and ammunition, and the production of machine tools.

The Treasurer added that the proposals would provide not only for the adequate defence of Australia, but also would afford invaluable assistance to the Empire's war effort.

"Our development will proceed apace, our purchasing power will be multiplied and our status will grow," Mr. Casey said. "I think there is no doubt Australia will make an increasing contribution to the Pacific area, in which Australia and the United States should increasingly collaborate."—United Press.

"One thing alone made this great task possible—mastery of the seas," asserted the "Daily Mail."—Reuter.

Below are a few of the many testimonials from prominent Doctors recently received:

"Saridon goes straight to the seat of the trouble — and nowhere else. Saridon has no by-effects on stomach, heart or kidneys. It does not induce drowsiness, and thus never interferes with the patient's daily duty." Dr. S.P.K., M.D.

"Your Saridon is a great scientific discovery because it always banishes pain in 10 minutes as quicker and overcomes malaise; Saridon also reduces febrile temperature, but does not affect normal temperature." Dr. K.P.C., M.D.

"With great confidence I prescribe Saridon because Saridon is the quickest-acting non-narcotic analgesic on the market and because Saridon is always reliable and perfectly safe." Dr. I.S.T., M.D.

"Saridon is excellent. It does more than what is claimed for it. Can be used with impunity even in cases of failing heart." Dr. T.M.T., M.D.

"I find that Saridon gives better results than anything that I have used outside of opiates which are often objectionable in many ways and not as satisfactory as your Saridon." Dr. C.T.W., M.D.

"My results with Saridon have been wonderful. I am prescribing it daily and using it often in my own family." Dr. S.N.G., M.D.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

A RASH ASSUMPTION

A feature of the 1936 Derby was the running of Mrs. Shand's Thankerton, which entered the straight with such a definite advantage over the rest of the field, that the B.B.C. commentator, in his enthusiasm, declared that the horse had such a lead that it could not possibly be beaten. A few seconds later he had to declare that he was mistaken, that Mahmoud had won the race, and that Thankerton was only third. The incident is mentioned because of the fact that there is a growing tendency on the part of some countries, not only in Europe, but in Asia as well, to believe that the European war is all but over and that the Axis is bound to win. That is not the belief of the Allies, but there are undoubtedly several neutrals who are tending to base their policies on the assumption that, like Thankerton, the Axis is entering the straight with such a lead that success is inevitable. It is a rash assumption. Germany from the outset has endeavoured to set the pace, and it has to be admitted has done so remarkably well up to the present, but it is not the initial spurt which will decide the struggle. There are plenty of horses who can set the pace, but it is only those who can stay the course who can possibly hope to win, and what Germany has to show the world is that she can stay the course. There are very solid grounds for believing that she cannot, for accepting the view that Herr Hitler knows it himself. It is for that reason that he is forcing the pace in the way he is, hoping to secure victory before the rapid attrition of his foodstuffs and stores of war material bring his enormous military machine to a halt. Opposed to him is an Empire composed of people who are determined to stay the course, to make up whatever has been lost because of the enemy's initial speed and to secure victory. There are important factors even now operating in their favour, factors which will grow more and more menacing to the enemy.

There is the continually growing British air force, which has already replaced all casualties and is now stronger than when the war commenced. There are on British soil approximately two million men in arms to meet the threatened invasion of the enemy. There is that determination to endure in order to win, and finally there is the British Navy, itself able to maintain that stranglehold upon the economic life of the enemy nations in a manner which must ultimately force them to surrender. And behind all this there are the vast resources of the British Empire, and the rest of the world, which will continue to be tapped by means of the mercantile marine against which the U-boat campaign has proved a failure. The German food situation is authoritatively stated in London to be comparable to that in March, 1918. The survey of position in Germany and the German-occupied countries, shows that the former is already in a sad plight, that Poland, invaded during the sowing season cannot produce her normal harvest. In the Danube prospects are poor. The supplies from Russia are by no means up to German expectations. Lithuania, Latvia and Esthonia are being obliged to feed Russian garrisons instead of exporting to Germany. The Italian standard of living, which has been falling for the past decade is now even below that of Germany. The overrunning of France brings no grist to the German mill, for at the best she is barely self-supporting, while this war has seen the ravaging of her corn fields. Finally it is reckoned that the whole European winter grain yield will be reduced from 25 to 50 per cent. owing to interrupted sowing, hard winter, spring floods, diversion of manpower, military destruction, shortage of horses, fertilizers and oil for machinery. At the same time it must be remembered that the Allied air forces have been delivering heavy blows against military objectives in Germany, and is capable, and will become increasingly so, of returning in kind everything that Germany can hope to do to Britain.

Then it has to be remembered that behind Great Britain stands the United States supporting the Allied cause as far as it can short of war. The manner in which the resources of that country have been placed at the disposal of the Allies, the material which has already been supplied and which is to be forthcoming in the future all add to the promise of ultimate victory for the Allied cause. In all these facts is to be found the answer to the question of whether Germany can stay the course. They most definitely suggest that she cannot. Hence Herr Hitler's Blitzkrieg in an endeavour to bring about the complete downfall of the Allies before the unavoidable pressure of the Allied blockade reduces the enemy nations to such a state that they will no longer be able to carry on. Consequently those nations whose hands are already itching to partake of the spoils of the defeat of the Allies which they apparently expect would do well to bide a while. They may by precipitate action at this juncture transfer what is at present a European war into one involving the whole world. It may be thought by some that the London statement quoted above is the result of wishful thinking, but a moment's reflection of what war does to the agriculture of invaded nations, and what blockade does to those which have avoided that catastrophe must inevitably demonstrate the correctness of the conclusions which have been arrived at. The German and Italian nations are involved in coils which will take a great deal to break. They cannot hope to do so as long as the Allies, or Great Britain alone, retain command of the seas. That has not been wrested from them and it is highly improbable that it ever will be. In the circumstances to assume that an Axis victory is certain, is to adopt the same attitude as the B.B.C. commentator at the 1936 Derby. He was probably very embarrassed over his mistake, but nations who make the same error in connection with this war may be even more so. In 1914-1918 the Allies stayed the course for four years during which Germany set the pace, but it was going down the straight of the subsequent three months when the Allies outstripped and defeated their enemy. History has been known to repeat itself, and there is not only no reason why it should not on this occasion, but strong probability that it will.

Developments in U.S.A.

While in some quarters of the United States it is alleged that President Roosevelt's appointments of Colonel Henry Stimson, and Colonel Frank Knox to be Secretary of War, and Secretary of Navy respectively are held to signify that a coalition Cabinet is being formed, there are others who deny it. What seems to be more likely is that the President is seeking to strengthen his position by having around him men who are in support of his present foreign policy, and of that both these new appointees are staunch defenders. It does not seem possible, until it is decided whether or not President Roosevelt will run for a third term of office, that a coalition of the Republican and Democratic parties could be formed with any great chance of success, and it is believed in some circles that President Roosevelt's action indicates that he will not again seek reelection. Nevertheless it is reported that present congressional reaction to the new development is unfavourable. This is especially true in the case of those who still cling to the isolationist policy, which would have the United States refrain from giving any form of assistance to the Allies in this struggle, and who believe that it will be possible to maintain the western hemisphere free from German interference in the event of an Allied defeat. Judging from the news which emanates from Uruguay, where a Nazi plot to overthrow the Government appears to have been discovered at the eleventh hour, that belief hardly appears justified, for if the Nazi organization can embark upon such a scheme when they have a war on their hands which is far from being ended, how much busier would they be in such intrigues were they not otherwise preoccupied? The fact of the matter is that the menace to the freedom which is so dear to the inhabitants of the United States, so many of whom have left their native lands where it was denied them, has become all the more imposing since the collapse of the French resistance. The opinion is finding a great amount of support in America that the defence of that country against totalitarianism is where the Allies are offering resistance in Europe. That belief is thoroughly well founded, and, if the Allies were defeated, it would become necessary for the United States to be prepared to defend herself in the Atlantic as well as in the Pacific. That that has been fully realized is apparent from the huge allocations which have been asked of Congress for the purpose of making very substantial increases in the naval strength of the United States. The appointments which the President has made appear to have been based solely on considerations of ability, and the suggestion that there is in them anything approaching the commencement of a coalition government is to be discounted by the fact that Colonel Stimson's views on foreign policy have long had a bigger following amongst the Democrats than amongst the Republicans, and it cannot be believed that he is following along party lines in accepting the post, but rather that by doing so he sees the opportunity of furthering policies which he believes are in the best interests of the nation, and which are not sufficiently supported by members of his own party. The attitude of the Republican party to this new development may best be expressed in the words of its chairman, Mr. John Hamilton, who when stating that he no longer considered the two appointees as members of the party, went on to say that as Cabinet ministers they "owe their allegiance to the President, and hereafter will speak and act in that capacity." Mr. Franklin Waltman, publicity director of the G.O.P. indicates that Col. Knox has accepted that view by resigning as delegate to the Republican National Convention from Illinois, and it is to be believed that Col. Stimson will in due course take the same action. That President Roosevelt will do everything in his power to further the prosecution of his policies during the remainder of his term of office is the one outstanding fact in connection with his new appointments.

Three Broadcasts

Listeners to the B.B.C. news broadcast on Thursday evening were given two real treats. The first was a recording of the arrival in England of the Australians and New Zealanders, which included the messages sent over the microphone by some of the men to their relatives in the Antipodes, and a stirring chant by a transport-load of Maoris as they approached the wharf. If anyone had felt inclined to get his tail down over the gravity of the general news, the cheery greetings from these Australians and New Zealanders, coupled with the fact that their presence in the British Isles is the most powerful testimony to the unity of the Empire's purpose, must have been most reassuring. There were no heroics in the broadcast, just comradeship and goodwill, the tone being set by the announcer who described the arrival of an "All Black" who will be remembered for a long while as a splendid Rugby half-back. "We all remember him as an opponent last time," said the announcer. "And we thank goodness that he is on our side this time." The second cheering broadcast was made by an American who had joined up with the Canadian forces, and he told why he was fighting for the Allies. He had been a radio announcer in San Francisco, he said, and the news he had had to handle daily in preparing his broadcasts had convinced him that his duty was to fight on the side of Democracy. He admitted that he had never cared much for Englishmen. The impression he had received when meeting them had been that everything and everyone not English was considered slightly barbarian. Since meeting many Englishmen and serving with them, his opinion had been completely changed, and he voiced his pride in being able to fight side by side with Britons in defence of the whole world's cause. These two broadcasts, however, came on either side of another which struck a grim note. Air Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, without mincing his words, told the British public what they might expect when the Nazis began their air raids in force. Though the defences of the British Isles were strong, he said, there could be no hope that the Nazis would not penetrate them—at first. He warned that loss of life and material damage was to be expected as a result of Nazi raids, but emphasized that these raids would cost the Nazis heavily. He recalled that German raids over Britain in the last war proved so severe on the German pilots that, towards the end of the war they preferred to dump their bombs into the sea rather than face British fighters. Without glossing over possibilities, he drew a stern picture of what is probably to come, confident in the heart of the British people who, he said, must face the Nazi bombs as soldiers in the front line faced enemy shells. There can be no doubt that they will.

ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

June 20.—We notice that the so-called local "Mimosa" is in flower: this shade tree with its handsome foliage and pink flowers is very attractive. The branches hang gracefully and the leaves are so "feathery" that it is attractive from Spring until late Autumn even if the leaves do close and "go to sleep" for the night. The light pink flowers, borne in numerous clusters, are very dainty. Our "mimosa" is really Albizzia julibrissin a native of temperate Asia from Persia to China it is commonly known as the pink "Siris" and its wood is useful for furniture making. The tree always flowers at the same time as the gardenia, so why do we not group the two together more often? The shade afforded by the albizzia is not objected to by the gardenia. Writing of mimosas reminds us that we have not yet seen the annual mimosa this year. There must be still plenty in the vicinity of Shanghai, it used to be very plentiful. Mimosa pudica or the sensitive plant, as the local mimosa is called, is native to Brazil; but it is naturalized in many countries including China. It is chiefly interesting owing to the fact that it is endowed with sensibility, the slightest touch of a leaflet is sufficient to make the whole plant droop. It is really remarkable how this plant is able to shrink and appear dead, heavy traffic in the vicinity or even a passing cloud is sufficient to affect it. First of all, the outside leaflets are affected, then the leaf stems and finally the main stems. Browne, an old English poet, referred to mimosa pudica as "the feeling plant which

Shrinks up his dainty leaves if any sand
You throw upon or touch it with your hand."

VAST ATOMIC ENERGY

Force 5,000,000 Times as Potent as Coal

A natural substance found abundantly in many parts of the earth, now separated for the first time in pure form, has been found in pioneer experiments at the Physics Department of Columbia University (New York) to be capable of yielding such energy that one pound of it is equal in power output to 5,000,000 pounds of coal or 3,000,000 pounds of gasoline, it became known recently. The discovery was announced in the "Physical Review," official publication of American physicists and one of the leading scientific journals of its kind in the world.

Prof. John R. Dunning, Columbia physicist, who headed the scientific team whose rearch led to the experimental proof of the vast power in the newly isolated substance, told a colleague, it was learned, that improvement in the methods of extraction of the substance was the only step that remained to be solved for its introduction as a new source of power. Other leading physicists agreed with him.

A chunk of five to ten pounds of the new substance, a close relative of uranium and known as U-235, would drive an ocean liner or an ocean-going submarine for an indefinite period round the oceans of the world without refueling, it was said, for such a chunk would possess the power-output of 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds of coal, or of 15,000,000 to 30,000,000 of gasoline.

Uranium ore, in which the U-235 also is present, is found in the Belgian Congo, Canada, Colorado, England and Germany, in relatively large amounts. It is 1,000,000 times more abundant than radium, with which it is associated in pitchblende ores.

Until about two months ago not even an infinitesimal drop of the substance had been isolated in pure form and the task of doing so appeared hopeless from a practical point of view. Toward the end of February a minute fraction of a gram was isolated at the University of Minnesota Physics Department, under the direction of Prof. Alfred O. Nier. The sample was rushed at once to Columbia University, where Prof. Dunning, in collaboration with Dr. E. T. Booth and Dr. Aristid V. Grosse (son of the late Mr. V. F. Grosse, former Consul-General for Russia in Shanghai), submitted it to tests with the Columbia 150-ton cyclotron (atom smasher).

The sample, however, was so small that the results, while striking, served merely to stimulate the scientists at Columbia and Minnesota to further efforts. So fast has the work progressed since the beginning of March, the report in the "Physical Review" says, that the yield has been increased 200-fold.

Chemical's Terrific Explosive Power

It was figured out, by way of another example, that one pound of the U-235 contains as much energy as 15,000 tons (30,000,000 pounds) of TNT, or 300 carloads of 50 tons each. If this one pound of U-235 exploded within 1/10,000ths of a second, as does ordinary TNT, the pressure produced would be on the order of 100,000,000,000 atmospheres (ten to the seventeenth power dynes to a square centimetre), about 1,000,000 times the pressure produced by TNT or by nitroglycerine. On the other hand, it was estimated by an explosion expert, the explosion of such a pound of U-235 would produce a crater much less than 300 feet in radius and probably only 75 feet in radius.

The largest amount of explosives ever to have been exploded was 6,000 tons of a mixture of ammonium nitrate and ammonium sulphate in Oppau, Germany, about fourteen years ago. That explosion was accidental, as the mixture was supposed to be a fertilizer. The resulting crater was about 600 feet wide and 250 feet deep. The U-235 is what is known as an isotope, or chemical twin of ordinary uranium. Even its existence was not known until a few years ago, and its properties had been unsuspected until a short time ago.

The power from the U-235, it was added, could be applied in many other useful ways. It would provide the most powerful source of neutron rays that might possibly be used in the treatment of cancer, as neutrons are much more powerful than either X-rays or radium. The neutron from the U-235 could be used also for the creation of artificially radioactive elements more powerful than radium. They could even be used for making gold out of mercury, but scientists expressed themselves as disdainful of such uses for their newest creative tool.

One of the scientists explained the process of the energy-liberation from U-235 by comparing it with the burning of coal. Whereas coal uses oxygen to liberate its energy, he explained, the U-235 uses slow neutrons for the same purpose. The process of combustion in the case of the U-235, he added, is, atom for atom, 100,000,000 times as effective as is the case in the combustion of coal. However, as the atomic weight of the uranium is 235, compared with 16 for the oxygen and 12 for the carbon, there are fewer uranium atoms to a given weight than there are oxygen and carbon atoms. This reduces the energy relations of the U-235, compared with coal, to a ratio of 5,000,000 to 1.

French Fleet Reported Joining British Navy

Loyalty Revealed as Hitler Hands Over Terms to French Delegates in Coach Where Foch Made Peace in 1918

Madrid, June 21.

THE French Fleet has decided to support the Allied cause and French naval units in the Atlantic and the Mediterranean are already operating under British orders, reliable French sources revealed today.—United Press.

Hitler Hands Over Peace Terms

Berlin, June 21.

In the same historic railway coach in the forest of Compiegne, France, in which Marshal Foch on November 11, 1918, dictated peace to German representatives, Chancellor Adolf Hitler today at 3.30 p.m. handed the Greater Reich's conditions for an armistice in the present war against France to four French plenipotentiaries.

After the Fuehrer had handed the German conditions to the French delegates, General Wilhelm Keitel, Chief of the German Armed Forces, explained the terms in a brief speech.

The German conditions were turned over to the French plenipotentiaries by Chancellor Hitler in the presence of high commanders of all branches of Germany's Armed Forces, Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reich Foreign Minister, and Herr Rudolph Hess, Deputy of the Fuehrer.

Official Statement

The official statement on the handing of the German conditions for armistice to the French said:

"The act today in the forest of Compiegne has expunged the injustice committed toward the honour of German arms. The dignity of this act toward an adversary honourably defeated is in contrast to the monuments of this place which are sowing eternal hatred and where Gallic vileness abused the undefeated German Army."

The French plenipoteniaries who received the terms were: General Charles Huntziger, member of the French Supreme War Council and former Commander of the Tientsin French Garrison, M. Leon Noel, former Ambassador to Poland, Vice-Admiral Leluc, Deputy Chief of the French Admiralty, and Air General Bergeret.

The armistice in the World War was signed in Marshal Foch's railway coach near Rethondes, in the forest of Compiegne, three miles east of the town of Compiegne. The historic coach became one of the landmarks of France, for it was later put on display at the exact site of the signing of the armistice.—Unied Press.

Syrian Forces to Fight

Cairo, June 21.

The French forces in Syria and the French Fleet in eastern Mediterranean waters have resolved to fight on despite a possible armistice usually well-informed quarters said today.—United Press.

Cairo French Rally

Cairo, June 21.

The French colony here has sent a telegram to President Albert Lebrun and General Maxime Weygand, Minister of Defence and Commander-in-Chief, urging France to continue the struggle and offering to place the entire services and property of the colony at the disposal of France.

The French colony in Alexandria also telegraphed to M. Lebrun, Marshal Petain and General Weygand stating that they join the French colony in Cairo in the appeal to continue the struggle with the "Franco-British union, which will ensure final victory."—Reuter.

Terms Announced

General Keitel, in defining the peace conditions, read a short preamble to the conditions in which he said the conditions were mapped out by Germany to:

1.—Prevent the resumption of fighting.
2.—Furnish Germany with security for continuation of the war against Britain which was forced upon the Reich.
3.—Create requisites for a new peace, the essential of which will be to repair the injustice done to Germany by force.

General Keitel also explained that Germany did not intend the armistice conditions to be of such a character as to abuse a brave enemy.—United Press.

France Still Has Chance

Washington, June 21.

France will still have a "fighting chance" to continue the struggle against Germany if reports that the French Government have fled to Tunisia are true, naval quarters said here yesterday.

The loss of man power and air power, however, will make French resistance difficult, these quarters said. Such a move, if accomplished, would be of great importance, they continued, because it would compel the Axis powers to withhold at least some forces which they are planning to use in a final drive against Britain. This would allow England time to obtain badly needed war materials at home and from abroad and, in addition, would keep alive much resistance in Africa, which otherwise might cease, naval quarters said.

The French, it was pointed out, have many colonial troops who are considered good, loyal fighters.

One of the most important effects, if the reported move succeeds, would be the possible frustration of the Large Scale Raids Made by R.A.F.

North-Western German Towns Heavily Bombed; Casualties Mounting

London, June 21.

"Large-scale operations were carried out by the Royal Air Force, including raids on objectives at Luenenburg, Hamm, Bielefeld, Muenster, Dueren, Schwerte, Euskirchen, Muenchen-Gladbach, Hamborn, Emmerich, Hamburg, Brunsbuettel and Norderney; one of our aircraft failed to return," stated the Air Ministry last night.

"Other operations were directed against military store-houses at Ijmuiden, Scheveningen and the aerodrome on Borkum. At all three places, fires were started.

"This morning, a squadron of Hurricanes attacked a large number of enemy aircraft lined up on the aerodrome of Rouen. Four enemy aircraft were set afire, and many others were damaged by machine-gun fire.

"This afternoon, a squadron of Blenheims visited the same aerodrome and caused further havoc. Both attacks were made without loss."

Further details of the surprise attack on the aerodrome of Rouen yesterday morning are given in a bulletin issued by the Ministry at 9 o'clock last night:

"The Hurricanes raked with machine-gun fire 50 German Ju 52's (troop-carriers) and Ju 87's (dive-bombers). The pilots estimate that they damaged at least 20 enemy aircraft."—Reuter.

Aerial Battle Over Coast

London, June 21.

An aerial battle took place over a south coast town for 33 minutes this morning. Frequent bursts of machine-gun fire were heard.

A German bomber flew over the town, released bursts of machine-gun bullets. British fighters drove off the raider. No casualties are recorded.—Reuter.

Over 60 Casualties Reported

London, June 21.

"So far as can be ascertained, casualties in last night's air raid were eight persons dead and about 60 injured," stated the Ministry of Home Security last night, referring to the biggest raid by German bombers since the outbreak of the war. More than 100 planes took part, dropping large numbers of bombs in various parts of the country.

The latest reports confirm that material damage is not serious, the Ministry added.—Reuter.

Supremacy in Middle East

Cairo, June 21.

The British yesterday claimed they were victorious in the beginning of the battle for aerial supremacy in the Middle East.

Fifteen Italian planes have been destroyed, as compared to two British, military sources here claimed.

The commander-in-chief of the R.A.F. in the Middle East announced last night that the Italians lost fifteen planes in the previous 24 hours in dogfights with British planes at points as far separated as the Egyptian-Libyan frontier and Aden. Only two British planes were lost during these engagements, the announcement said.

"Three Italian fighters were shot down and two others were seriously damaged in a clash with R.A.F. bombers and supporting fighters off Bugbub, near the Egyptian-Libyan frontier Wednesday," the announcement said.

"Two Italian 'planes were seen crashing into the sea and a third fell in flames on land. One of our fighters is missing.

"Bombers of the South African Air Force, escorted by fighter 'planes, attacked the Isvello aerodrome in Eritrea where they bombed and machine-gunned nine enemy planes dispersed around the aerodrome. Two enemy planes definitely were destroyed and three were damaged. Of the enemy fighters that took off one was immediately shot down and another was forced down after twenty minutes of fighting. One British fighter failed to return.

"An Italian tri-motored bomber was forced to land 150 miles to the east near Huhn Balid and its crew of five were taken prisoners.

"Six grounded Italian 'planes were set afire Wednesday night during the bombing of the Aden and Gabi aerodromes. One Italian fighter made a forced landing near Salum. A wounded lieutenant-colonel, the pilot of the plane, was taken prisoner."—United Press.

Ruhr, Rhineland Raided

London, June 21.

While Great Britain was free of air attacks last night, the Royal Air Force carried out largescale raids over the Ruhr and the Rhineland. It was learnt in authoritative quarters here today that poor visibility rather hampered British aircraft, but this did not prevent successful attacks.

Very heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered, but the British pilots pressed forward their attacks courageously. Two machines were lost.

During raids on Britain on Tuesday night, 17 German airmen were taken prisoner. In most cases, German machines in the raid on Wednesday night were shot to pieces.

It is confirmed that in one raid over Hamburg some time ago a margarine factory was hit; 6,000 tons of whale oil were destroyed. It took the Germans two days to extinguish the fire.—Reuter.

Japan Urged To Invade Indo-China

Anti-British Agitators Lodge Resolutions With Govt. Leaders

Tokyo, June 21.

Demands for the immediate Japanese occupation of the Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China were made today by the "Anti-British League of Tokyo Citizens."

The League urged the Government to occupy Indo China by invoking the right of self defence in order to cut off the arms supply route for Chungking. The League also stressed that Japan should occupy the East Indies to guarantee the safety of Japan's life-line.

In addition to handing copies of its resolutions to the Premier, Foreign, War and Navy Ministers, the league sent duplicates to the British and French Ambassadors.

The Social Mass Party also passed similar resolutions, adding that Japan should seek the immediate restitution of foreign concessions in China to the new Nanking Government.

Five-Point Programme Urged

The Social Mass Party unanimously adopted a five-point programme urging:—

1.—The tightening of the tri-partite anti-Comintern axis.
2.—Liquidation of the "curry favour" policy toward Britain and the United States and the immediate suspension of all negotiations with those two countries.
3.—Immediate restitution of foreign concessions in China to the new Central Government of China.
4.—A guarantee from Indo-China under threat of force that its anti-Japanese policy would be abandoned and the arms supply route to Chungking would be cut off.
5.—A guarantee from the Netherlands East Indies under threat of force that it would cooperate in the economic bloc in East Asia.—United Press.

Indo-China Exit Closed

Tokyo, June 21.

Declaring that French acceptance of Japan's demands in regard to Indo-China amounts, in substance, to the closing of the Yunnan-Indo-China border, the "Asahi Shimbun," in an editorial today, stresses that the passage of Chinese will be markedly restricted, and visits of Chinese leaders to foreign countries through Indo-China will be virtually impossible.

The Japanese Foreign Office announced yesterday that the French Government had agreed to prohibit traffic in "goods of an extremely wide range" through Indo-China in accordance with Japan's representations.

France had also agreed, it added, to the dispatch of Japanese inspectors to investigate conditions on the spot.—Reuter.

"Colossal Impudence"

Canton, June 21.

Indignation over the "colossal impudence and insincerity" of the French Consul at Hongkong, who on Tuesday told Chinese newspaper men that the authorities of French Indo-China never permitted the transportation of war supplies to the Chungking regime, was expressed by a press officer of the Japanese Expeditionary Force to South China in an oral statement to the press today.

Since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese conflict, the officer went on to say, the French Indo-China authorities have been maintaining pro-Chiang Kai-shek activities in aiding in the transportation of large amounts of war supplies to Chungking, as has been repeatedly pointed out in statements issued by the Japanese military authorities.

The positive assistance accorded to the Chungking regime by French Indo-China was made clearly evident in the recent interviews at Chungking between the French Ambassador to China, Mr. Henry Cosme and General Chiang Kai-shek.

"Definite Proof"

Furthermore, definite proof of French Indo-China's assistance to the Chungking regime has been obtained by the Japanese through their agents stationed along the transportation routes and by Japanese airmen who have obtained photographed records.

The officer declared further that it is needless to say that what is generally referred to as war supplies include not only arms and ammunition, but all materials necessary for the prosecution of the war.

The greater part of the arms and ammunition, as well as motor cars, gasoline and other materials that have been sent to Chungking to strengthen the Chiang regime's armed resistance against Japan, has been transported through French Indo-China, and that is why French Indo-China was described by the Japanese army authorities as the "blood life-line" of the Chungking Government, the officer said.

He added that the Japanese Army is determined to strike at those who are still engaged in pro-Chungking activites and do not realize the actual situation in East Asia.—Domei.

Japan Puzzled What to do Over Italian Challenge to Newspaper Editor

Protest Filed by American Embassy Not Yet Answered; Brief Regret Expressed

Tokyo, June 21.

The Foreign Office today had not yet decided what action to take on the protest filed by the United States Embassy when the managing editor of the "Japan Advertiser," Mr. Wilfrid Fleisher, was challenged to a duel by the Secretary to the Italian Embassy, Count Macchi de Cellère, yesterday.

Count Macchi visited Mr. Fleisher at his home and attempted to engage him in fisticuffs because of an editorial appearing in the paper asserting that Italy entered the European war in order to share in the spoils. Count Macchi then challenged the editor to a duel with short swords, unless he apologized for the editorial within 24 hours.

Mr. Fleisher reported the incident to the American Embassy here, which filed a protest with the Foreign Office.

The "Advertiser" did not mention the incident in its news columns today. A brief comment, however, was printed on the editorial page which stated: "We regret that yesterday's editorial should have given offence to some members if the Italian community."

Incident Closed

The United States Embassy this morning formally notified the Foreign Office that the incident was satisfactorily closed this morning.

The spokesman for the Japanese Foreign Office, Mr. Yakichiro Suma, meanwhile, told the press the Foreign Office had taken no action on the protest filed by the American Embassy The incident was still being studied by the Japanese when the Embassy announced the matter was closed.—United Press.

British Hold Vast Italian Territories in Libya

3,500 Square Miles Occupied by Forces Stationed In Desert; Air Raids Break Monotony of Station

From Reuter's Special Correspondent with British Forces

Somewhere in the Western Egyptian Desert, June 21.

LIVING like human moles, British soldiers are holding the line on the Libyan Frontier and are constantly harassing the enemy with patrols in the coastal region, in the vicinity of Sollum.

I saw them among scrub beside trenches, into which they scramble when enemy aircraft appear over the Sollum escarpment from Libya on their regular, twice-daily, bombing and machine-gunning excursions.

Some machines, flying high, drop high-explosive bombs in the sand, and others fly at about 100 feet and try and machine-gun troops crouching in trenches, who return their fire with Bren guns.

At the same time, these low-flying planes throw out small hand bombs.

Apart from the Royal Air Force, the main brunt of the fighting in the western desert has fallen on British armoured units and thanks to them, British troops at present dominate 3,500 square miles of Italian territory.

Stories of Bravery

Already there are many stories of bravery and initiative which have won for them striking successes with very few losses. An audacious series of coups and captures have been effected by four British armoured cars on the Bardia-Tobruk coastal road, deep in enemy territory. The total haul of these four cars was: 34 lorries, three staff cars, three civilian cars destroyed, one Italian officer and 20 men killed, ten Italian officers, including a general, and 61 Italian and 17 native soldiers captured.

A tour of the Anglo-Italian battle-front revealed very trying conditions under which one of the strangest wars of modern times is being waged. Both sides faced the same inexorable enemy—the desert. Thousands of miles of communications must be maintained, rations distributed to distant outposts, troops transported, casualties evacuated, under a tropical sun, across waterless wastes constantly swept by scorching sand storms.

I sat with troops gathered outside a wireless van, listening to news broadcast from London. They had not washed for days, they were bearded and caked with congealed sweat and sand, but they listened with cheerful faces, and when the broadcast ended, and they left for war stations, an Irish soldier remarked: "We will show them at home how to win the war."

British Spirits High

These British soldiers, including Dominion and Indian troops are magnificent, and their spirits are high. The great difference between the British and Italian forces fighting on the Libyan border is that the British have their spirits up, whereas the enemy have not.

Even captured Italian officers entertained in the British Field Headquarters Officers' mess do not attempt to hide their feelings of relief now that they are in "friendly hands." From conversations with prisoners, it appears that the Italian and the natives under them are equally anxious, and have not got their hearts in the war.

Italian air raids have so far caused little damage and are regarded by British troops as merely exciting interludes.

Italian tanks are of inferior material. Even our small arms penetrate their armour and kill the crews inside. There have been several cases of Italians hoisting the white flag and then firing on advancing British tanks, which are not now taking any chances. On one occasion an Italian held a white flag in one hand, and a hand grenade in the other.—Reuter.

Clash Inside Libya

Algiers, June 20.

Fighting between French and Italian forces in the desert wastes of Libya was reported today in the first war communique issued by the French military authorities here.

"On June 18," this communique stated, "native troops established close contact with enemy position in the Nalut region, inside Libya 33 miles from the Tunisian-Libyan border, and south of a Jeb Nefusa.

"The enemy tried to bomb the terrain near Peinne, but met with no success.

"Our air force," the communique continued, "carried out reconnaissance flights over Sicily, Sardinia and Tripoli. All our planes returned safely to their bases.

"Two patrol ships attacked and destroyed an enemy submarine," it concluded.

Another communique was issued summing up operations since Italy's entry into the war. It said:

"Our air force has displayed great activity since Italy's participation in

Commons Meets in Historic Session

Preparations Discussed For Battle of Britain Behind Closed Doors

London, June 21.

The British Parliament yesterday went into its most momentous secret session in nearly 700 years of popular Government in England to prepare for the forthcoming "Battle of Britain".

The only statement issued after yesterday's session disclosed that "adjournment of the House was moved after debate took place on home defence and other matters." Another secret session will reportedly be held on Thursday, June 27, when the work of the Ministry of Supply will be discussed.

During yesterday's meeting, home defence was reported to have been the keynote, with outspoken comment being made on all phases of nation defense.

Next Thursday's session will probably take into consideration aircraft production as well as equipment for the army and navy, observers believed.

Never, since Simon de Montfort began the first move toward a representative government in 1265 and the first "model parliament" was formed under Edward III 30 years later, has the House of Commons been called upon to face so serious a situation.

Twice since the formation of a Parliamentary Government — when King Philip of Spain and, then Napoleon, massed ships against England—invasion has threatened the British Isles. Neither of these old adversaries possessed the terrible new weapon of a powerful air force.

One of the leading roles in these extraordinary sessions of Parliament will probably be played by the acrid little Welshman, Mr. David Lloyd George, who, as Prime Minister, pulled Britain together in the last war.

Many political observers believed the Government would ask the veteran Welsh statesman to reenter the Cabinet, but they pointed out this would depend entirely upon developments during the secret sessions of Parliament.—United Press.

Britain Warned of Mass Air Raids

Anderson Shelters Stand Up to Severe Tests

London, June 21.

Commenting on the air-raids over Britain, the "Daily Herald" says: "So far little damage has been done but the assaults were small in scale. We must be ready, as the campaign develops, for real mass raids."

Several papers commented on the efficacy of the Anderson air-raid shelters. The "Daily Mail" says: "Their ability to stand up to the blast and splinters, of an exploding bomb, have been amply proved. In some cases bombs dropped only a few yards from the shelter, have left the occupants unharmed."—Reuter.

Germans Use Red Cross as Target

Mr. Robert Montgomery, the film actor, who has been driving an American ambulance in France recently, said on arrival from Europe: "I thought the stories of the strafing of ambulances and hospitals were pure propaganda, but now I have seen it with my own eyes.

"It was so bad that we had to ask permission to take the red crosses off our ambulances. These crosses made perfect targets, and they would pick us out and chase us until they got us," he concluded.—Reuter.

Reason for French Defeat Discussed

Staff Military Tactics Are Held Responsible; Army Retains Morale

From Reuter's Staff Correspondent

Somewhere in France, June 21.

The defeat of the French Army—the finest in Europe—and the subsequent moves of the French Government envisaging capitulation are attributed, in objective French circles, to two causes:

1. The military views held by the French General Staff, and
2. Deep-rooted political divisions.

On the military side, the General Staff minimized the importance of tanks and aircraft, and regarded them as auxiliary arms. They held that this war, as were Napoleonic wars, was to be won by infantry masses; and acting on the lessons of tht last war, they calculated on a war of position and fortifications.

General Degaulle, who foresaw the German tactics, earned opposition by his theories, which ran contrary to the opinions of the Staff.

During action in the Forest of Warndt, at the beginning of the war, French tanks proved their superiority. This lesson was well learned by the Germans, who speeded up the equipment of their armoured divisions, and entered the battle with masses of tanks. Over one front of 60 miles, nearly 4,000 tanks were being used.

Heavy Losses in Dunkirk

In the armies and divisions, the morale was good but losses in men and material in initial operations, and at Dunkirk were catastrophic.

Subsequent heroism, brilliant tactics and unceasing fighting never made up for this initial defeat.

The French troops, in the end, were separated into four armies, fighting without a continuous front. The Maginot Line has supplies for four months, but the Line has now been turned.

The really serious blow to public confidence was struck when the Government decided to leave Paris, and subsequently, not to defend the capital. When the Government reached Tours, reports of an imminent capitulation became current.

Reynaud Opposes Peace

At Tours, both Marshal Petain and General Weygand are said to have argued: "Let us, as soldiers, approach the Generals on the other side and we shall secure an armistice which will save France's honour, and avoid useless slaughter."

M. Reynaud, the Premier, and M. George Mandel, the Minister of the Interior, and others, argued that they were dealing with Hitler, and not with soldiers.

There was a lack of organization at Bordeaux when the Government went there, and a sense of hopelessness was growing.

The final decision to reform the Cabinet, by eliminating those who favoured resistance, and filling it with men who were prepared to

"Panic Moves" Among Axis Partners Seen by New York Newspaper

Italy Shows Little Jubilation Over Hitler's Success in France; Mass Attack Expected

New York, June 21.

Dwelling on the uneasiness of Hitler's partners, an editorial in the "New York Times" says: "It is noteworthy that there is little jubilation in Italy over Hitler's success in France, and warnings and precautions against the tough struggle ahead, launched at a moment of French defeat, indicate pretty clearly that the Italians believe the British will continue the war, firm in their determination to save their Empire.

"No less interesting are the reports of dismay which is mounting in Moscow, as the German Armies overrun France. The Red Army moves in the Baltic strengthen Russian frontiers against a victorious Germany, while at the same time, stake out Soviet claims in a reorganized Europe.

"The same motive inspires the new rapprochement of Russia and Turkey; a sign that Stalin considers the Dardanelles a vital link in the Soviet defence system.

"These are moves of panic," the paper declares.

"Mussolini's last minute rush to join Hitler, before he gathered in all the fruits of victory, was also a move of panic.

"Hitler's partners-in-crime are much more jittery than the British, as they dig in grimly for a mass attack, the paper concludes.—Reuter.

"Coalition Cabinet" Formed By President Roosevelt

Colonel Stimson Nominated Secretary of War, Colonel Knox Made Secretary of Navy

Washington, June 21.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt, refuting Republican claims that he was leading the nation into war, announced today he had nominated Colonel Henry Stimson Secretary of War and Colonel Frank Knox Secretary of the Navy "in behalf of our national solidarity and our national defence—and for no other reasons."

The President nominated the two Republican leaders to the high posts immediately after Mr. Harry H. Woodring, the Secretary of War had presented the Chief Executive his resignation yesterday.

Colonel Knox, the Chicago publisher, was nominated to replace Mr. Charles Edison, the Secretary of the Navy, who resigned early this month to enter New Jersey politics.

President Roosevelt, in his explanatory statement today, emphasized he had appointed Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson, former Secretary of State, "in view of the fine, overwhelming sentiment of the nation for national solidarity in a time of world crisis."

"These appointments were also made in behalf of our national solidarity at such a time of crisis and in behalf of our national defence—and for nothing else," the President declared.

The White House Secretary, Mr. Stephen Early, said Mr. Woodring's resignation will become effective when the Senate confirms Colonel Stimson's nomination.

Congressional charges that the Administration was leading the nation into war greeted the President's selection of Colonel Stimson and Colonel Knox.

"From their utterances," Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, declared, "I believe both would be glad to see a declaration of war."

"Is this true?" cried Senator Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican. He said he was incapable of further comment.

Excitement Among Senators

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, rushed to the desk of Senator Charles L. McNary, Oregon Republican, and conferred with him when news of the appointments was brought to the chamber. Senators gathered in little clusters. The buzz of conversation caused the presiding officer, Senator John Miller, to suspend business several minutes.

Col. Henry Stimson

Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson both have favoured United States assistance to the Allies.

Colonel Stimson, in a speech at New Haven, Connecticut, Wednesday, urged that the United States open its ports to the British and French navies in order to obviate the necessity of sending Americans to Europe to fight Germany.

The appointment of Colonel Stimson to the cabinet profoundly interested Far East and insular circles here. Colonel Stimson was Governor General of the Philippines during the Coolidge Administration and has strong personal views regarding the Philippines. The west Pacific, these circles said, is likely henceforth to weigh in cabinet deliberations at Washington.

When he was Secretary of State, Colonel Stimson helped formulate United States policies in regard to the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

Conquests Ignored

Colonel Stimson is regarded as the foremost exponent of the thesis against the recognition of territories gained by conquest and has been active in the movement to enforce an embargo against Japan.

Colonel Knox' appointment will tend to bring Middlewestern popular opinion in line with President Roosevelt's defence and foreign policies.

Colonel Knox brings to the new Cabinet a broad background of military experience. His first military experience was with President Theodore Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" during the Spanish-American war.

In the World War, Colonel Knox served as captain in the field artillery and was later promoted Major and assigned to the staff of the 78th Division in France. He is now a retired colonel in the field artillery.

Volunteer Activities

Before active war service, Colonel Knox was one of the most active heads of the so-called Plattsburg Training Camp Plan, which was a voluntary organization sponsoring training camps for officers.

The Chicago publisher recently fostered the nationwide programme to popularize aviation as a part of President Roosevelt's plan to train 50,000 civilian pilots next year.

Axis Acts Against Canal Feared

U.S. Take Precautions; Italian Vessel Placed Under Guard

Panama, June 21.

There have been reports of possible Nazi-Fascist action against the Panama Canal either by attack or sabotage, and there is evidence that the United States authorities are taking these seriously.

The Canal Zone unit of the American Red Cross has put out a call for the registration of trained and experienced women for first aid work and as motor-drivers.

The Red Cross is also collecting information and preparing plans in case evacuation of the Canal Zone should be necessary.

Meanwhile, the Itlaian 23,200-ton liner Conte Biancamano, which is well-known in Far Eastern waters and is at present anchored off the Pacific entrance of the canal under guard, has been described by local newspapers as a "potential Trojan horse."

The ship was placed under guard four days ago after action to recover $91,000 alleged to be due to the Asiatic Petroleum Company of London for fuel and other supplies at various ports.

Yesterday another action was taken against the Conte Biancamano by a Dutch firm, which is demanding $87,000 for cargo delivery charges.—Reuter.

U.S. Envoy Believed Held In Paris Embassy

New York, June 21.

Bordeaux, June 21.

Mr. Anthony Drexle Biddle, American Ambassador to Poland, who is now in Bordeaux, announced today that the temporary American Embassy here would remain open regardless of whether the German army occupied the largest French ocean ports.

Soldiers Saved After Nine Days at Sea

Dramatic Fight for Life Now Revealed

London, June 21.

Details of the rescue of nine French soldiers by a British motor-boat some time after the withdrawal of Allied troops from Dunkirk have become known in London.

For nine days these survivors had existed on board a wreck sunk in shallow water within a few miles of Dunkirk. They had no food or water during the nine days. The party originally consisted of 20 but 11 perished. Four men built a raft and set out for England. They were not seen again.

Seven others died after drinking sea water. The survivors burnt their boat to supply warmth at night and to attract attention.—Reuter.

Prior to the polling the Prime Minister telegraphed Mr. Willink, expressing astonishment that at this critical time such a wholly irrelevant bye-election was caused by Mr. Lucas' nomination.—Reuter.

Buenos Aires, June 21.

These two warships date from 1910 and displace 27,940 tons. They are armed with 12 12-inch guns and have a top speed of 23 knots.—Havas.

Swiss Welcome Refugees

Streams of French and Polish Civilians and Troops Pour Over Border in Huge Numbers

Berne, June 20.

HOSTILITIES in eastern France, close to the Swiss frontier, and the growing flow of refugees from the war areas into Switzerland have disrupted normal life in the border regions and are said to be causing the Government grave concern.

Serious repercussions already have been felt in Swiss economics, for several border-region factories working on Swiss Government munitions orders were reported to have been compelled to close down temporarily.

While the authorities were reported troubled by the streams of war refugees, the Swiss people have been admirable in their kindly welcome to French civilians and soldiers alike.

The refugees, who are arriving on foot and in every imaginable type of vehicle, are being met at the border by the authorities. Swiss peasants, however, approach the officials and, urging them not to hold the refugees in internment camps, offer their own homes to the unfortunates.

"They Are Our Brothers"

"We have beds," as one Swiss farmer asserted. "They are our brothers, and we can help them."

The refugees, too, show high spirit and, despite the trials through which they have passed, declare they wish to impose as slight a burden as possible on the authorities. All offer to work to earn their bread.

Swiss mobilization, affecting as it does thousands of young men from fields and cities, has left gaps in the Swiss labour system, and it is believed a number of the refugees will be given the opportunity to work.

Typical of the friendliness shown by the Swiss people has been the store-owners' almost unanimous action in lowering prices for the refugees, most of whom have escaped from the oncoming German war machine with only a few of their most precious belongings.

French soldiers particularly have been received with universal kindliness. Gathered in groups on Swiss territory in the border regions, they have been cheered by Swiss peasants with food and tobacco.

A number of French detachments entered Switzerland by mistake when they fought a gallant rearguard action against overwhelming German forces in the wooded border areas.

Constantly harassed by tanks, attacked by motorized infantry and artillery, they retreated yard by yard until, while they still thought themselves in France, they had crossed the border and were faced by Swiss border guards.

Arms Given Up Quietly

No incidents occurred and the French troops laid down their arms quietly, raising no trouble with the Swiss. Stray units did wish to return to France to fight on, but their officers, compelled to recognise the desperate plight of their men, who were hungry, injured in many cases, and almost without ammunition, decided they had no choice but to stay.

Among the interned soldiers are many former members of the International Brigade which fought in Spain and a large number of Austrian emigres, who left their native land upon the advent of Hitlerism.

10,000 Cross Mountains

Ten thousand Polish soldiers crossed the Jura Mountains into Berne Canton today under the protection of a last-ditch rearguard action by remnants of the French and Polish troops in the area. Few of these remnants were able to make their way to the border.

Artillery pieces and tanks which had claimed a heavy toll of the attacking forces, were taken to the border by the retreating Polish troops although they were greatly slowed down by this heavy equipment.

Bridges and tunnels on the French side of the border were blown up by the soldiers as they fell back.

First convoys of refugees arrived in Berne today to be allocated by the authorities to hastily-prepared internment camps.—Havas.

Colony Rice Ban Discussed Here

S.M.C. Asked to Approach Hongkong Officials Over Saigon Rice Shipments

The Shanghai Rice and Bean Merchants' Association decided at a meeting held yesterday afternoon to petition the Shanghai Municipal Council to make efforts aiming at securing permission from authorities in Hongkong for shipping the stranded Saigon rice, the exportation of which has been forbidden in the Colony. The Association's letter of request will suggest to the Council that the British Consular authorities here should conduct negotiations with authorities in Hongkong.

The step is viewed with importance by Chinese circles since the arrival of additional Saigon rice will remedy the rice situation here which has become very serious in view of unsettled conditions in Indo-China. The price of the native rice reached another record mark of $75 per picul while Saigon rice was sold at a little less than $70. They are now beyond the reach of the average resident.

Uncertainty prevails in local shipping circles in regard to future shipments of rice from or via Haiphong, a possible storm centre in the Far East. While some shipping firms were reported to have received information that their boats could proceed to the French port others have obtained no information and are inclined to await future developments.

Chinese Press Critical

The Chinese press as a whole does not agree with rice merchants increasing their prices. It is stated that even should Haiphong be blockaded by French authorities as rumoured, Shanghai can still look for rice in Siam and Hongkong. It is generally agreed among the Chinese here that rice merchants have made use of the tense situation in Indo-China for increasing their prices of Saigon rice already stored in Shanghai. When the price of Saigon rice goes up the price of the native grain follows the lead.

Another important decision reached at yesterday's meeting was to discourage rice transactions outside the Shanghai Rice Market which has made manipulation and profiteering possible. The decision calls for secret information leading to the discovery of these profiteering merchants. As soon as the Association has discovered them their names will be reported to the authorities. The Shanghai Rice Distribution Committee also met yesterday but failed to reach a decision enabling the poor to get cheap Saigon rice. It was decided to await for the arrival of ordered Saigon rice before fixing a date for distribution of cheap rice among the poor.

Big Rice Riot Last Night

A big rice riot was staged last night in a Chinese rice shop at 934 East Yuhang Road resulting in 14 bags of rice being stolen. Between 70 and 80 poor people stormed the shop at about 8.25 p.m., the closing hour, after a heated dispute over the price of rice.

Words were soon translated into action in which the poor removed rice during the confusion and escaped before the police arrived. One rioter suspect was later arrested by the Wayside police but no stolen rice was recovered.

German Denial

Berlin, June 21.

The official German news agency, D.N.B., today denied British reports from Kaunas, Lithuania, claiming that German troop movements had been sighted in East Prussia.

"Official German sources," D.N.B. said, "categorically announce that there have been no German troop movements on the Lithuanian border."

Quoting German political circles, the news agency said the British reports were obviously "an attempt to convince the British public that Russo-German incidents can be expected since references to American help apparently are no longer of any avail."—United Press.

"Coalition Cabinet" Formed by President Roosevelt

Both Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson have supported most of aspects of the President's foreign policy.—United Press.

Washington Excited

Washington, June 21.

The nominations of Colonel Frank Knox and Colonel Henry L. Stimson for Cabinet seats caught Washington unawares and provoked excited comment yesterday.

Coming only four days before the Republican National Convention for nomination of the Presidential candidate, the effect was doubly startling, and Congress buzzed with talk on its bearing on Presidential politics.

Immediate Congressional reaction appeared unfavourable. A Senator who is one of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination, said: "I see no reason for a coalition Cabinet, and I don't regard this as a coalition."

Senator D. Worth Clark (Democrat Idaho) expressed the opinion that the appointments were a prelude to put the United States into war.

Roosevelt Policy Supported

Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat: Montana) declared he believed Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson woud be glad to see America go to the aid of the Allies, to the extent of declaring war. Both Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson had been staunch defenders of President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Senator Rush D. Holt (Democrat: West Virginia) said he had recently read in a newspaper there was "pressure" from London to get Mr. Woodring (the ex-Secretary of War) out of the Cabinet. "It has succeeded," he added.

Republicans, generally, expressed bitter condemnation of the nominations of Colonel Henry L. Stimson and Colonel Frank Knox.—Reuter.

Third Term Abandoned?

Philadelphia, June 21.

News of President Roosevelt's appointment of two loyal Republicans to serve in his reorganized cabinet was interpreted by Republicans gathering for the national convention here last night as an indication that the President does not intend to run for a third term in office.

Mr. Alfred Landon, Mr. Roosevelt's opponent in the 1936 presidential race, told the United Press the President must have given Colonel Frank Knox and Colonel Henry Stimson assurances he would not be a third term candidate in order to include the two Republicans in his cabinet. Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson were nominated Secretary of the Navy and War respectively.

Other Republican leaders here told the United Press Mr. Roosevelt accompanied original proposals for the formation of a coalition government three weeks ago with a promise not to run for the Presidency again.

The Republican national chairman, Mr. John Hamilton, indicated he no longer considered Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson members of the Republican Party. As cabinet members, he said, they "owe their allegiance to the President and hereafter will speak and act in that capacity."

Mr. Franklin Waltman, G.O.P. publicity director, said Colonel Knox had resigned as delegate to the Republican National Convention from Illinois.

G.O.P. Leaders Shocked

News of the appointments of Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson, however, astonished G.O.P. leaders assembling for the national convention here. But the flurry of surprised statements uniformly congratulated the President on placing two good men in his cabinet.

Mr. Landon, who earlier refused to enter a coalition government, said, "I hope Colonel Stimson and Colonel Knox were not misled in such assurances as must have been given them regarding a third term movement. The country is to be congratulated that President Roosevelt has taken action to repair two weak vital positions in national defence."

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., urged Colonel Knox and Colonel Stimson to reject their appointments.

Mr. Charles Halleck, Republican Representative of Indiana, who will nominate Mr. Wendell Willkie, public utilities executive, for the Presidency, said the appointment of the two Republicans "makes Mr. Willkie the outstanding candidate." Colonel Knox formerly was considered a possible Republican candidate.

War developments delayed, for 24 hours at least, a showdown within the resolutions committee, which is divided on the issue of committing the United States to give the Allies all aid short of war.—United Press.

Japanese Comment

Tokyo, June 21.

Commenting briefly on the appointment by President Roosevelt of Colonel Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of State, as Secretary of War in succession to Mr. Harry Woodring the spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Office today declared that it represents an appropriate measure for the United States, which, like other countries, faces important times.

Mr. Suma added that "the new War Secretary, occupied as he is with his official duty, will have little time left to attend to the business of the Committee for Non-Participation in Japanese Aggression, which he heads."—Domei.

London Praises Roosevelt

London, June 21.

The London press today was almost unanimous in praising President Roosevelt's nominations of Colonel Henry Stimson for Secretary of War and Colonel Frank Knox as Secretary of Navy and hailed the move as indicating a "stiffening of the American attitude toward war."

The New York correspondent of the "News Chronicle" said that at one stroke President Roosevelt "added to his Cabinet two of the most respected men in the country and also put the Republican Party chiefs in the position of either having to denounce the idea of national unity or go along with Roosevelt."

The "Daily Mirror" believed that President Roosevelt's move "indicates such a stiffening of United States attitude that it might herald active intervention in the war."

The Washington correspondent for the "Daily Telegraph" declared that the President "once again has shown some clever sense of timing."—United Press.

Retreat South of Loire

Bordeaux, June 21.

Part of the French armies under the command of General de la Laurencie and Gen. Langlois was retiring toward Brittany last night, while other parts were fighting a rear guard action south of the lower Loire River, French military reports said last night.

The French armies which formerly defended Paris, also resumed their retreat southward to new positions after delivering combat along the middle Loire River, the announcement said.

German mechanized forces which passed the French Champagne armies along both flanks are now trying to push through Dijon, it was said.

French Form Squares

The French armies in Lorraine, under the command of Gen. Conde and Gen. Bourret, now are in "squares" and are under constant attack by the Germans from the north, east and west, the communique said. These armies are trying to fight their way southward from the Vosges sector in an effort to escape encirclement, it was added.

The Italians, it was believed here, probably will attempt to pierce the French lines and effect a junction with the Germans on the Mediterranean. French reports admitted last night that the Germans now occupy all of France north of the Loire River, with the exception of sections of the Maginot Line still being held by isolated French units.

In Alsace, French armies commanded by Gen. Laure also are trying to fight their way through German lines in an attempt to avoid being wiped out. The Alsace and Lorraine armies, which supported the Maginot Line, are threatened with complete isolation as the Germans approach the Swiss border south-east of Paris.—United Press.

French Try to Break Through

Bordeaux, June 20.

Heaviest fighting of the day took place in Alsace and Lorraine as French troops attempted today to break through German lines west of the Maginot Line.

The Alpine frontier was quiet and no Italian offensive has as yet been attempted.

In the Rhone Valley, German troops pushing southward this evening reached a point ten miles south of Lyons. The main body of the enemy forces, however, was reported to be holding positions along the Loire River.

Authoritative military quarters admitted that some German units crossed the Loire at Nantes and advanced 15 miles.—Havas.

Italian Reply to Mayor Fu

The Central Press Service stated last night that the Italian Consul General in Shanghai formally made a written reply to the letter recently sent by Mayor Fu Siao-en of the Shanghai Special Municipality asking for a complete withdrawal of belligerent foreign troops stationed in Shanghai to avoid a possible conflict in the city.

The reply reached the Mayor at 1 p.m. yesterday. Its contents would be made public after it had been translated into Chinese, it was explained. It was further stated that the British and French Consul Generals had not yet replied.

"G-Men" Seek Authors Of Threats to Germans

Philadelphia, June 21.

G-Men today were seeking the author of a letter to Herr Erich Windel, German Consul and former Minister to Canada, which threatened him with death unless he left the United States.

The letter also threatened drastic action against Germans living in Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, local police authorities continued their investigation of the home-made bomb found at a German language printing plant.—United Press.

London, June 21.

Two age groups are being registered this month, and arrangements are being made to register four further age groups in July.

This means that by the end of next month, men of 33 years will have registered for military service. Men of 29 years will register next Saturday, and in all more than 1,000,000 additional men will have registered by the end of July.—Reuter.

French Fleet Joins Up With British Navy

Italian aim to cut the Mediterranean in two, naval quarters declared. Tunisia is less than 100 miles from Sicily. If Premier Benito Mussolini obtained Tunisia he would be able effectively to block the Mediterranean and, at the same time, successfully maintain Italian communications to Africa.

If the Allies hold Tunisia and command the sea with their superior fleets, Italian communications with Africa will be very uncertain, these quarters asserted.

If the French are able to maintain an air force in Tunisia—and reports are that many French planes have flown to Africa—Italian cities and industrial centers will be in grave danger, they said. On the other hand, Tunisia is greatly exposed to Italian attacks, they pointed out, and might eventually become untenable. The French have a small naval station at Tunisia, which, according to naval sources here, would not be able to handle large vessels. Britain, however, has important bases nearby and these would serve the purpose as well, they said.—United Press.

Munitions Workers Are Decorated

Praise for "Unknown" By Mr. Morrison

London, June 21.

Mr. Herbert Morrison, Minister of Supply, today presented the Medal of the Order of the British Empire to a Scottish munitions worker, Mr. Hugh McLelland, who tried to avert an explosion when fire broke out in an Ordnance Factory, and was seriously injured.

Mr. John McCabe, who lost his legs in the same explosion, was posthumously awarded the O.B.E. (Officer of the Order of the British Empire), and a chemist, Mr. Thomas Asquith, was awarded the Medal of the Order of the British Empire for joining Mr. McCabe and Mr. McLelland in the same operations.

Mr. Morrison paid tribute to "unknown Army munitions workers toiling to aid in the fight against Hitler."—Reuter.

Heavy Damage Caused In Concession Fire

Paint Shop Completely Destroyed

Property losses running well over six figures were caused last night when a big fire completely destroyed a large paint shop at 200 Rue Cassini. Thanks to the admirable efforts made by fire fighters from the French Fire Brigade, who turned out in large numbers, the conflagration, the cause of which could not be ascertained, did not spread to neighbouring buildings.

Seven men living nearby attempted to put out the fire at the beginning, climbing up to the roof for the purpose. They were burned and injured, some of them seriously, and had to be rushed to hospital. The fire lasted for about an hour being brought under control at 9.40 p.m.

Famous French Refugees Arrive in London

London, June 21.

A French passenger vessel, built to accommodate 390 passengers, landed at a west coast British port Thursday carrying 1,660 French refugees, including several noted social, political and literary leaders, it was disclosed today.

Mme. Eve Curie, author and daughter of Marie Curie, M. Henri de Bernstein, millionaire, Baron Robert de Rothschild, noted banker, and the former French Air Minister, M. Pierre Cot, were passengers on the overcrowded steamer.

During the night crossing of the Channel, Mme. Curie slept on a deck chair, M. de Bernstein made his bed on a bare mattress, and M Cot slept on the deck.

Every foot of space, including stairways, was crowded with refugees fleeing from the Nazi blitzkrieg.—United Press.

the conflict. Numerous far-ranging reconnaissance flights have been made and, among bombing operations carried out in reprisal for slightly effective bombings of Tunis and Bizerta, two in particular, against the ports of Tripoli and Cagliari, Sardinia, should be noted.

"The first, against Tripoli, was carried out on the night of June 15-16, and many hits were scored on a large wharf.

"The second raid was executed on the night of June 17-18. A fire was started in an aerodrome hangar and many Italian planes were destroyed on the ground.

"The enemy's anti-aircraft defence was weak and all our planes returned safely to their bases," the communique stated.—Havas.

U.S. Naval Expansion Scheme Approved

Admiral Woodward Blaims Policy for Shortage

New York, June 21.

Praising President Roosevelt's naval rearmament programme Rear-Admiral Clark S. Woodward, Commandant of the third naval district, disclosed today that when the present naval building programme is completed in 1946 the United States would still have only 80 per cent. of her naval tonnage immediately after the World War.

Rear-Admiral Woodward blamed the scrapping of 928,000 tons of warships, as a result of the 1922 Washington Naval conference and the 1930 London parley, for the present shortage of bottoms.

The present fleet of the United States comprises 155 under-age ships, 112 of which were built and commissioned since 1933, he said.

Rear-Admiral Woodward said the "exaggerated statements" of the effect of bombing plane attacks on battleships "should be heavily discounted."

No battleship has ever been destroyed by such a means, he said, "and no news received from abroad during the present war has altered my personal opinion as to the final effectiveness of aerial bombardment on warships."

He named American naval planes as "auxiliary weapons only."—United Press.

Spanish Company Buys Two American Liners

Madrid, June 20.

The Ibarra Steamship Company, Spanish, recently purchased the two American liners, Presedent Lincoln and President Wilson, it was learned today.

The liners were making for Cadiz from New York with Spanish crews aboard when they were stopped by patrols of the British contraband control and were taken to Gibraltar, it was also learned.

Both ships will be renamed at the end of this month and will be placed on the regular run from Barcelona to Buenos Aires via Cadiz, Lisbon and Montevideo.—Havas.

DAY FROM TO DAY

A MEETING of the Shanghai Municipal Council has been convened for Wednesday at 4.30 p.m.

THE weekly report of refugee work for June 20, follows:—No. of Camps under inspection by Public Health Department 14; No. of refugees therein 18313.

DR. S. D. Joffick, Director of The Clinical Diagnosis Institute, 620 Szechuen Road, has just returned from a scientific trip to the Peking Union Medical College, Rockfeller Institute.

BY order of the Chinese National Government, Dr. P. Z. King was appointed successor to Dr. F. C. Chen as Director of the National Health Administration recently, according to a Chungking message to the "Chinese American Daily News."

NINETEEN Chinese athletes who recently competed in the East Asia athletic meet held at the Meiji Shrine stadium in Tokyo on the occasion of the 2,600th anniversary of the founding of the Japanese Empire, arrived in Shanghai from Nagasaki Thursday afternoon in the Nagasaki Maru, the "Shanghai Mainichi" reports.

A SPECIAL committee will be appointed shortly by the Kweilin municipal authorities to plan the construction of a memorial for Chinese soldiers who have been killed in action, states a Kweilin report to the "Sin Wan Pao." The provincial government will grant $20,000 for the construction of the memorial, the paper says.

SIR Cecil Dormer, who was the British Minister in Norway, comes of an ancient Catholic family, and has had much diplomatic experience in Turkey, Venezula, Siam, Japan, and the Holy See. Of quiet, even temperament, he has a clean, straight outlook on life and a very kindly disposition, but he can be very firm in protecting Britain's interests.

WE are asked to announce that in view of the seriousness of the present world situation, the authorities of Union Church, in response to suggestions from various quarters, have arranged for a series of meetings for prayer to be held in the Church Hall next week. These meetings will be held on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, commencing at 5 p.m. each day.

ADMIRAL Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, Commander-in-Chief of the British Fleet in the Mediterranean knows that sea inside out. He made his reputation at the Dardanelles and with the Dover Patrol. A fighting man, he is known as "The Destroyer," because of his long and varied service in destroyers and in command of destroyer flotillas. He is very popular in Turkey, while his long service in the Mediterranean, and his distinguished work at the Admiralty, on the Naval Staff, and in the Imperial Defence College make him the ideal man to deal with any possible troubles in those waters.

SIR William Firth, whose removal from the chairmanship of the South Wales tinplate combine has caused a City sensation, has had many ups and downs since he started life on an office stool at 10s. a week. Nine years ago, for example, he was up. He formed his great merger of steel firms at a very difficult time, and saw it through to success. Two years ago he lost a fortune estimated at from £500,000 to £1,000,000 through the depreciation of shares. He is a man of big and quick decisions. Last year he came back from America with an order worth nearly £5,000,000. On another occasion in 1933, hearing that rival works were to be set up in Australia, he went out there and got the decision postponed for two years. In recent years Sir William has travelled by air whenever possible. He has a luxurious private aeroplane always kept in readiness.

TRIAL navigation over a distance of 1,000 kilometres along the Kingsha River, where no less than 400 rapids are to be found, has just been concluded successfully by a river survey party of the Ministry of Economic Affairs, states a report from Chungking to the "Sin Wan Pao." The Kingsha rises in Tsinghai (Kokonor) province and flows south-east to the Szechuen border. It then passes through Yunnan province, touching Likianghsien, and finally merges with the Yangtze. Many boatmen lost their lives in the four accidents which occurred while crossing the rapids, it is stated. It may be recalled that M. Baudrez, conservancy expert of the League of Nations, and a party of Chinese assistants perished last year when their junk capsized in the Kingsha River, the journal states. Considerable blasting of submerged rocks will have to be carried out to make the river navigable. The Kingsha may become of vital importance to China in her present national emergency, the "Sin Wan Pao" concludes.

CHILDREN of the Cathedral Schools are being invited to attend a special service in the Holy Trinity Cathedral at Mattins on Sunday. While this service has been arranged primarily for the Church of England children in the Schools, others who wish to attend will be most welcome. Hymns familiar to the children of the schools have been chosen, and appropriate prayers will be said by the Rev. P. C. Matthews, M.A., Headmaster, Cathedral Boys School—Henry Lester Endowment. The First Lesson will be read by the Chairman of the Cathedral Girls School, and the Second Lesson by the Chairman of the Cathedral Boys School. A short address will be delivered by the Dean. For the benefit of those children who have not cars, a special bus will leave the Cathedral Girls School at 10 a.m. proceeding by Weihaiwei Road to the Cathedral. The Bus will be distinguished by the Church Flag in the notice board, and will stop if signalled at the corner of Avenue Foch and Haig and again at Moulmein Road to pick up children. The bus will return by same route after the service. The collection at this service will be for the work of the Red Cross. In order to minimize difficulty in seating arrangements, subscribers who wish special seats reserved for them are asked to communicate with the Cathedral office this morning.

American U. Club Annual Meeting

Mr. R. P. Butrick, Acting U.S. Consul-General, Elected To Presidency by Members

At the annual meeting of the American University Club, which was held at tiffin yesterday in the assembly room of the American Club, members unanimously elected Mr. R. P. Butrick, Acting American Consul-General, to the presidency for the ensuing year. Mr. Butrick replaces Mr. William Z. L. Sung, vice-president of St. John's University, under whose direction the American University Club enjoyed a very favourable year. As guests of honour supporting Mr. Sung in his last official act of the year, were Judge Milton J. Helmick, Col. De Witt Peck and Mr. Butrick.

In reviewing the club's progress during the year, Mr. Sung commented on the splendid co-operation of officers and committees and attributed to their sterling endeavour the club's success. It had been a privilege and a pleasure to have been associated with them and he would, as President Emeritus, assist as much as possible in developing new membership. He paid special tribute to the programme committee, headed by Mr. Butrick, and to the membership committee, of which Mr. Horace H. Smith had been chairman. The membership has showed a marked increase during the year, he concluded.

The report and accounts, submitted respectively by Mr. Alfred S. Lee and Mr. Bruce Smith, unanimously were adopted.

New Officers Chosen

Officers elected for 1940-41 were as follows:—Mr. Richard P. Butrick, president; Dr. Yen Teh-ching, vice-president; Mr. T. F. Wei, secretary, and Mr. Bruce M. Smith, treasurer. The executive committee was elected as follows:—Messrs. George Bourne, T. K. Ho, R. J. McMullen, Horace H. Smith and T. T. Zee.

Judge Milton J. Helmick, past president of the club, then spoke of the fine choice of officers and the good reports on the past year by the retiring officers. Turning to world affairs, he said terrible and devastating events were taking place in the world. "We can only keep our faith and our hope," he said. "There was also much defeatist talk now, because the doctrine of force seemed to be succeeding on all sides.

"It is obvious," he added, "that peaceful nations like China, the United States and Britain cannot prepare themselves for war in times of peace. We must reconcile ourselves to that fact. Perhaps that is our advantage, perhaps it is our menace."

Judge Helmick then spoke of the amazing scientific progress of the past 50 years. "Apparently," he said, "our social and ethical progress has not kept pace with this scientific development." Scholars, who were responsible for these developments, had lost control of the very things they had studied and created. Instead of trying to control these things, they had devoted themselves to the task of producing more doctors of medicine, more doctors of philosophy, more scientists, more historians, while "the fruits of science were yielded to the unworthy" who now control them.

R.A.F.A. Give Tiffin For Mr. W. E. Holland

Silver Mug Presented by Sir Victor Sassoon

A farewell tiffin was given to Mr. W. E. Holland by the R.A.F.A. yesterday, at which he was presented with a silver mug by Sir Victor Sassoon in the name of the association. Sir Victor Sassoon, in proposing the toast to Mr. Holland, said he was sure that he would "wangle" his way into something worth doing at home, and wished him the best of luck.

Replying to the toast, Mr. Holland said that he addressed the meeting with mixed feelings. "In the first place," he declared, "I am glad to be getting away to do my bit, and the second place I am, sorry to be leaving the R.A.F.A."

Mr. Holland was one of the founder members of the association, and has been connected with it since 1919 when it was first started.

"Two Mugs Back"

The guest of honour continued by thanking the association for presenting him with the mug and said that if he came back to Shanghai he hoped to be able to give two mugs back. "Every Friday when I am at home," he continued, "the mug will be on my table whether my colonel objects or not, and whether I can afford to fill it or not." The speaker went on to say that he believed British youths in Shanghai who had belonged to the S. V. C. had received a very fine training, and were fully capable of playing their part in the struggle in Europe, adding that he thought that the way in which the question of local volunteers for the army at home had been handled was very poor, and that reports that men from Shanghai were not wanted were entirely untrue. He concluded by saying that he had had much pleasure from the association in the many years in which he had been a member, and again thanked the meeting.

"The China Journal"

The June issue of "The China Journal" is a "travel number" and contains some really beautiful photographs and good descriptive articles. "Let's Go to Java" is by W. E. Fisher; "A Yellow Mountain Travelogue" by R. I. Fernandez; "Midnight at a Japanese Inn" by S. H. The curious story of "The Man Who Invented Formosa" is told by Francis Jaffé, and the woodcuts illustrating it are delightful. "New and Old Education in China" by J. Usang Ly is continued; there is a story, "A" Warning to the People," by Lusin, the pen name of Chou Shu-jen, which has some amusing line drawings; "Soda Encrustation on Wall Bricks in Chengtu" is the title of an article by C. Y. Chao and T. C. Peng; A. S. Loukashkin, of the Harbin Museum, Manchuria Research Institute, writes on "Some Rare Plants from Eastern Asia," while figures regarding "Shanghai's Cigarette Manufacturing Industry" are given by Frederick Fang. The usual permanent features complete a good number.

$4,700 Jewellery Theft Reported

Settlement Police Searching for an Alleged Parsee

The police of the Settlement yesterday were continuing their search for a Parsee in connection with a bold theft of jewellery consisting of four diamond rings and a diamond scarf pin valued altogether at $4,700 from P. Mohideen Brothers, 412 Chengtu Road, dealers in gems and precious stones.

Mr. Mohideen, the manager of the establishment, reported to the police that the Parsee, a flashily dressed young man, drove up to his store on Tuesday afternoon in a private car. After partaking of refreshment, he said, the caller engaged him in conversation, said he was going to be married, and asked to see some diamond rings.

The man who described himself as an export merchant from Hongkong, and who wrote his name in a visitors' book as "R. H. Krevani, Suite 543-4 Cathay Hotel," gave Mr. Mohideen the names of several influential men in Hongkong, saying he had arrived from the Colony recently and was on his way to Japan to be married. Mr. Mohideen, who lived in Hongkong for years was impressed and talked with his caller on business generally.

Reverting to the object of his visit the Parsee, it was reported, asked to see some diamond rings and jewellery. He was shown a number of rings and told Mr. Mohideen that he would have to call up his fiancee at the hotel, to ascertain what she particularly wanted. He selected four diamond rings and a diamond scarf pin, and asked that it be sent to the hotel for her approval.

Later two assistants of the shop called at the hoel, it was reported, and were shown up to the suite where they met the Parsee. He was stated to have told them that his fiancee was waiting in an adjoining room, and told them to wait while he went in and showed her the jewellery. Mr. Mohideen told the police that when he failed to return after about five minutes, the assistants went into the next room and were chargrined to find that it was unoccupied. They made investigations at the hotel and ascertained that the Parsee had left hurriedly in a car. He was not heard of again.

The following day, it was reported, Mr. Mohideen received a telephone call after making a complaint to the police, and was told that if he would pay the caller $700 and say nothing more about it, he would recover the jewellery. He was under the impression that the voice of the caller sounded like that of the Parsee. He reported that he arranged to meet the man at Ciro's and told the police that the Parsee failed to keep the appointment.

Robber Shot by Police

A robber was shot and wounded yesterday morning by a Chinese constable of the French Police while fleeing with two others from the scene of a crime.

The robbers, two of whom were said to be armed, entered 57 Rue Bluntschli and robbed a Chinese living in the premises of $200 in cash.

The alarm was raised. A Chinese constable responded and pursued the robbers. When they disregarded his call to them to stop, he fired two shots after them, bringing down one of them with a bullet wound in his right leg. The wounded man, who was taken to hospital, was in possession of a toy pistol.

Murderer Retracts Confession

Alleged Accomplice Now Exonerated

One of the two self-confessed murderers now detained by the First Special District Court in connection with the assassination some months ago of Wu Chi-len, a lawyer living in Yates Road, has entirely repudiated his former statements implicating Koo Tsu-hsien, well known Chinese theatre owner also detained as the instigator of the crime, explaining that he and the other accused had gone to Wu's home to commit a robbery in which they shot their victim to death as the latter threatened to report to the police.

When the judge asked him why he had repudiated his former confession, he said that he implicated Koo when he was detained by police but that he now was held in the prison where he received no bad treatment. Formerly he had been forced to implicate Koo, but now he did not wish to trap an innocent man, he said.

The judge appeared to be unconvinced, repeating what the accused, Ho Kwei-fu, had said at a previous hearing. He formerly told the judge that Koo wanted to kill Wu as an act of revenge and asked them to do the job for $2,000. He insisted during the latest hearing that he and his confederates went to Wu's home to stage a robbery. Refusing to surrender his diamond ring, Wu held them at bay in a room while he tried to inform the police, whereupon they opened fire Judgment will be passed on June 29.

More Money Asked for Rickshaw Pullers

Council Urges Public to Be Generous

The Shanghai Municipal Council wishes to draw the attention of the rickshaw-using public to the necessity for paying public rickshaw pullers justly and even generously The Council has permitted an increase of 15 cents per day as rickshaw rent pending more exhaustive examination of the industry. This increases the cost of operation to each puller 7½ cents per day. In the case of most businesses, increased overhead is automatically passed on to the public but the nature of the pullers' business is such that it is difficult to control payment by public rickshaw users to the pullers.

The Council has satisfied itself that the puller has shown himself able to earn rather more than was the case previous to the rise in living costs, but urges the public to pay as liberally as possible, in order that the puller may be enabled to meet this new and unavoidable increase.

Cigarette Shop Robbed

Early yesterday morning seven robbers, four armed, entered a shop at 728 Brenan Road and stole 100 cartons of "Ruby Queen" cigarettes after intimidating the several assistants of the shop who had been awakened from their sleep.

After thoroughly ransacking the shop in search for more loot, the robbers made their escape and fired three shots in the air to avoid pursuit.

Shanghai Pleased With U.S.A. Move

Col. Stimson's New Post, Rumoured Departure of T.V. Soong Stimulate Market

The Chinese press in Shanghai struck an optimistic tone last night in reporting an improvement in the local financial market during the day. The nomination of Colonel Henry L. Stimson as secretary of War by President Roosevelt and the rumoured departure by air of Mr. T. V. Soong for America had stimulated the market favourably, it was stated.

Chinese in Shanghai generally received the news with relief. Colonel Stimson is a statesman who knows the situation in the Far East "most clearly" and who advocates a strong policy in this part of the world, to quote the words of the "China Evening News." Many Chinese telephoned to newspaper offices asking for details of the news and when they were told that foreign press reports mentioned the nomination they all expressed relief.

The price of gold bars suddenly dropped yesterday after more than a week's upward trend. On Thursday, a 10-ounce gold bar was sold for $5,680 but yesterday morning it dropped by $50. A further decrease was registered later and the lowest mark was $5,400. Looseness in the foreign exchange market was noted in Chinese reports while slight increases of between five and 10 cents of prices of various Chinese government bonds were also reported.

Bishop Norris Staying In Peiping

Bishop Scott Enthroned As Bishop of N. China

"Bishop Norris who resigned the Bishopric of North China on June 30 is for the time being remaining in Peiping, in the hope of being of some use to his successor (Bishop T. A. Scott) as Chaplain to the Embassy or in some other ways. His postal address will be as hitherto "Church of England Mission, Peking."

Bishop T. A. Scott was enthroned as Bishop of North China on June 30 in the Cathedral at Peiping, his successor as Bishop of Shantung (the Right Reverend John Wellington B.D.) having been consecrated in the Cathedral in Peiping, on June 29. It is at present uncertain when Bishop Wellington will be permitted to take up his residence in Taian (Shantung) though his Chinese clergy have already been allowed to return there. Bishop Wellington's address at present is c/o Cheeloo University, Tsinan, Shantung."

"Derogatory Remarks" In Local Broadcast

Complaint by Japanese Embassy Spokesman

Reference to "a certain broadcasting station in the Settlement, which has had on its staff a member in whose speeches expressions or words derogatory to other nations have been used," was made at the Japanese press conference yesterday by an Embassy spokesman. "The Japanese authorities cannot but get the impression," the spokesman added, "that such broadcasts are prejudicial to the maintenance of peace and good order in Shanghai."

It was further stated that the Japanese authorities view is shared by officials of the nation to which the station belongs. No steps had been taken as yet to check these broadcasts, the spokesman stated, but should future developments lead the Japanese to believe that steps were necessary, they would be promptly taken. The spokesman concluded by saying that this statement had been made because the Japanese Consulate-General had received numerous letters complaining of the nature of these broadcasts.

German Firm's Trade Mark Copied

Defag Co. Loses Large Sum as Result of Frand

Nine persons connected with a piece goods and printing business in Shanghai were brought before the First Special District Court yesterday on the suspicion that they had been involved in a fraud in which they were alleged to have caused the Defag Company, Szechuen Road to lose a big sum of money through infringement of its "Indanthren" trade mark.

Counsel for the plaintiffs told the court that although the loss could not be estimated at present it must have run into six figures, although the initial loss was estimated to be $75,000. It was revealed by the police prosecutor that as early as March the German firm received information that piece goods were being distributed in North China with imitation Indanthren labels.

Later, further information was received from clients in the interior to the effect that seals on the trade mark were forged and these forged documents were found in Wuhu. The company even took the trouble of sending representatives to the interior to investigate the matter and finally found out that the trade mark infringement business had its origin in Shanghai.

The Settlement police were quickly informed and as a result of raids conducted in various places the accused were arrested. Some of the accused are salesmen of piecegoods stores.

Iron Foundry on Fire

Early yesterday morning a fire of unknown origin broke out at an iron foundry shop at 42 Amherst Avenue and caused some damage to the house, a single-storeyed building.

Two divisions from Ichang Road and Bubbling Well Road stations turned out. The fire was under control in a short while.

"EUROPE is a continent of fighting mongrels; purity of race does not exist." That is an apposite extract just now from one of the books of Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, warden of New College, Oxford, whose death is reported. It was also Mr. Fisher who said after the last war that "the British aristocracy, though dethroned as rulers, are retained as pets." His books are full of good things like these, but he will probably best be remembered as a wartime President of the Board of Education who completely revolutionized the British educational system by his Act of 1918. He despised popularity and would never, when he was a member of the Government, yield one inch to public clamour.

OBITUARY

Mr. R. L. D. Wodehouse

Advice has been received of the death in England on May 20 last of Mr. R. L. D. Wodehouse.

Mr. Wodehouse was not well-known in Shanghai, having only been a short period in the port before the Great War, but during his 28 years service with the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd., he was well-known at many ports in the Far East, particularly for his skill at all games. He won the Open Golf Championship at various times in Hongkong, Singapore and Tientsin, and in 1928 played cricket for All India against the M.C.C. One of his claims to fame was that he was a brother of "P. G."

During the latter period of his time in the Far East Mr. Wodehouse spent some six years as Branch Manager of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd., at Tientsin, leaving there in 1936 to become Secretary of the Society at its Head Office in Hongkong, where he retired in 1938 owing to ill-health.

Mr. Wodehouse leaves a widow and two daughters in England, with whom much sympathy will be felt.

ALL three of the Scandinavian kingdoms are connected by marriage with the Royal house of Windsor. Queen Alexandra, grandmother of King George VI., was daughter of King Christian IX, of Denmark. Her youngest daughter Princess Maud, married her cousin, Prince Charles of Denmark, King Haakon of Norway. The Crown Prince of Sweden has had two English wives. The first, who died in 1920, was Princess Margaret, elder daughter of the Duke of Connaught.

Yesterday's Business

Weekend covering operations were the main feature of yesterday's market, the undertone throughout being extremely firm. There was no particular feature, but from the character of the buying a good market may be expected next week, should the news remain reasonable. Rubbers continue neglected though there seem to be eager buyers of any distressed lots.

Thursday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 20.

Prices in the cotton market today early moderately eased on increased selling pressure, liquidation and hedging. Later, prices rallied on some trade buying and shorts covering. Finally, the market again reacted on hedge-selling, switching and renewed liquidation, closing quiet, with quotations ranging from 5 to 19 points down.

Prices in the rubber market today advanced on an improved speculative demand, dealer buying and shorts covering. At the close, gains of 30 to 50 points were recorded.

Wheat futures in Chicago today moderately declined on lower cables, profit-taking, liquidation and a weak cash market. At the final bell, losses of 1/8 to 3/8 cent were registered.

New York Stocks

Thursday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 20.

Stock prices on Wall Street today ruled quietly irregular, with losses ranging from fractions to 2 points mostly predominating.

Continued European uncertainties and the belief that taxes on profits would reduce the speculative attractiveness of stocks depressed values, and most leaders lost ground.

Domestic business news continued to be good, but operators were cautious pending the definite announcement of the French peace terms.

The turnover today amounted to 590,000 shares.—Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Stock prices eased in light trading today, on the belief that Marshall Petain's speech and the Senate's inclusion of the Excess Profits tax in the Defense Revenue Bill were bearish. Bullish items included the prediction that the demand for electricity would be doubled during the next five years, and also the new highs in building, car-loadings and cigarette production. Steels and aircrafts were depressed on the belief that the taxes on profits would reduce speculative attractiveness. Many leaders closed the session at the day's lowest levels.

Stocks:—Showed further signs of having completed the normal rally from the April/June decline, which suggests another approach to the recent lows. If the volume of trading continues to be moderate, we believe purchases are advisable in the 115.00 to 118.00 area of the Dow-Jones Industrial Average. Bookings of Allis Chalmers are substantially ahead of 1939, with current earnings 25 per cent. greater.

Cotton:—Declined on July liquidation and switching to October and December, together with a narrowing of differences. The early advance met southern selling. Trading was largely confined to trade operations.

Wheat:—London prediction of an European famine, Mr. Snow reports that the high temperatures would be injurious to the Spring crop, coupled with the reported progress of a huge plan for concentrated handling of the Western Hemisphere commodity surpluses failed to affect the prevailing cautious attitude of traders, who were awaiting further European news.

Corn:—The market was quiet, with support less aggressive.

Rubber:—War risk rates have sharply advanced for the East, Far East and Africa. There was trade short-covering in a quiet market, with no public interest at the moment.

Hides:—The market showed hesitancy on advances, despite higher spot markets and further Government orders, coupled with stimulating leather sales.

Cocoa:—The possibility of interference with shipping and the increased war risk rates caused trade covering. However, there was little outside interest.

Sugar No. 4:—The market was stagnant.

The New York Stock Market during the current period under review backed and filled without making much progress either way. Turnover was at a low ebb due largely to the cautious attitude adopted by traders pending a clarification of the European situation. On the announcement of the French bid for peace Monday, prices broke from one to five points early the session but subsequently most of the losses were wiped out as it was generally felt that the United States Defense Programme would easily absorb the slack in industrial activity resulting from the elimination of France as a buyer. The next day the list advanced from fractions to more than two points to the best levels recorded in more than a month but later easiness prevailed when traders lightened their positions pending the disclosure of the peace terms to France. Some improvement was witnessed at mid-week with mounting Congressional opposition to the recent proposal to limit armament profits to 7 per cent.; however, on Thursday the market moved lower as traders were reluctant to assume fresh commitments because of the European situation.

Commodity prices, according to the Dow-Jones 11 commodity index, were virtually without change. Despite the good technical position of the market and the growing belief that the great shortage of food abroad will provide an outlet for our surpluses later on, wheat futures at Chicago moved lower. Corn ruled independently steady though there was a slight increase in offerings at advances. Cotton prices were practically unchanged with observers of the opinion that developments point to the further isolation of exports: the loss of export markets can hardly be offset by increased domestic consumption. The chief factors in the rubber market were trade operations and further July covering owing to apprehension over the delay in August/September arrivals because of the Malayan strike and the uncertainty over the East Indian situation. It is reported that within two years synthetic production for the entire needs of the United States is possible. Hides presented a quiet but steady appearance. Sugar futures declined on small liquidation in an empty market.

Last month United States exports amounted to $316,874,000. The magazine "Iron Age" reports the temporary suspension of steel production for France; also an increase in rail equipment buying with a possibility of this developing into a major programme; and, German steel companies offering steel in South America at prices below American companies with October deliveries guaranteed. Bethlehem Steel has been awarded a favourable verdict in a $25,000,000 lawsuit against the Government. Car loadings for the week ended June 15 are the highest this year. Loadings of New York Central for the week ended June 15, were the largest recorded for any week during the past ten years. The General Motors labour contract increased their payroll by $8,000,000 annually. An experiment is being made with Nylon parachutes.

W. Poland As Reich Province

German Experts Busy Trying to Raise the Economic Standard of that Country

GERMANY'S economic experts are now busy with their attempts to raise the economic standard of Poland and to put that country's industrial life into the service of the Greater German Reich. Poland has not, even hitherto, been a wealthy country, and with a few exceptions Western Poland is self-sufficient or more than self-sufficient only in those goods which are also produced in adequate quantities in Germany. But the German Press is optimistic with regard to the activities of Germany's economic experts in Poland, states "The Economist."

Poland is, as a whole, an agricultural country, and the Nazis naturally put their main hope in the possibilities of raising her agricultural yield. In years of good crops, Poland used to export large quantities of meat, butter, eggs and certain cereals, notably barley. As a result of recent hostilities, however, there is now a food shortage in Western Poland which forms an unfavourable starting point for Germany's agricultural activities. Neither the experiences of the last war nor the results of the Nazis' agricultural policy justify the view that Germany will succeed with these activities. During 1917 and 1918 she was not able to maintain a satisfactory food position, although, in addition to Poland she dominated the Ukraine and the most fertile Balkan countries.

Agriculture Products

Meat and butter are Poland's most important agricultural products from the German point of view, though the value of Poland's butter supply is more than outweighed by her own requirements of vegetable and whale oil; Greater Germany's fat position, as a whole, has been made worse through the seizure of Western Poland. In the present crisis there will probably arise the necessity for vast emergency slaughterings of livestock which will have an adverse effect on the country's meat-and butter-producing capacity in the next few years. It is very doubtful, indeed, whether, in these circumstances, Western Poland will be able to make any important contribution to Germany's meat supply, which, before the war, was estimated at about 6 per cent. short of her requirements. It must also be taken into account that there is not the slightest hope of chltivating any appreciable amount of maize in Western Poland, though this is the fodder most needed by Germany.

One of the reasons for present food crisis is that the system of warehouses is inadequate even in the Western provinces of Poland, and it will take a long time to remedy this. Fertilising will soon become difficult in Poland owing to the shortage of phosphates. The impending transfer of large parts of the population is likely to result in a serious shortage of agricultural labour. It has been estimated that there are at present 750,000 Polish war prisoners in Germany, while a million people, most of them peasants, will be affected by the transfer of Russians to the Soviet Union.

The Nazis will probably try to save foy the German people part of the food produced in Poland by lowering the standard of living of the Polish population as they have done in Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Germany itself, but the existing standard of the Polish peasants and workers does not leave much margin for this, so that it will be extremely difficult to extract any considerable surplus of food products from Western Poland and in the long run she may prove to be a liability rather than an asset as far as food is concerned.

Raw Materials

The situation is no more favourable as regards textile fibres, though Poland produces under normal circumstances a small part of the wool she needs and her surplus production of flax and hemp covers almost a third of Germany's requirements. There is no hope of increasing this production or of starting, on a large scale, the production of artificial fibre. As a whole, Poland is probably less self-sufficient in textile fibres than Germany and even with the most elaborate rationing schemes the Nazis can hardly alter this.

With forestry, the Nazis' prospects are brighter. The Polish surplus production of timber is considerable, and though some of Poland's richest forests are situated in the Russian-occupied part of the country it could still be increased through reckless felling. Even without Polish supplies, however, the Germans could produce their own requirements of timber at the cost of exhausting their own forests, so that, while Polish forestry is likely to save much of Greater Germany's wealth in woods, this gain affects future generations rather than Germany's prosecution of the present war.

Mr. Cordell Hull on "Godless, Soulless Lust for Power"

Scathing Attack on Totalitarian Powers; Basis of Life Threatened; Brute Force, Fraud and Guile

Cambridge, Mass., June 21.

CONDEMNING the Totalitarian Powers for their "attack on modern civilization," the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, urged all "liberty-loving men and nations" to gather together into an unconquerable force yesterday.

Addressing the graduating class of Harvard University, the Secretary of State said there was a desperate need for freedom-loving nations "to gather together into a defensive force every element of their spiritual and material resources as well as every ounce of moral and physical strength."

"These are black days for the human race," Mr. Hull declared. "These are ominous days for this country as well as Europe.

"There are working in the world today powerful forces, the significance of which no individual and no nation can ignore without falling into a position of gravest danger and utmost jeopardy!

"Never before have these forces flung so powerful a challenge to freedom, civilization and progress as they are flinging today.

"The massed forces of lust for tyrannical power are directed today against the basic way of life which has come to be a cherished ideal of the preponderant majority of mankind....against the moral, spiritual, social, political and economic foundations of modern civilization," Mr. Hull declared.

The text of Mr. Hull's speech was as follows:

"I am deeply conscious of the honour which was conferred on me this morning. I am happy to visit this magnificent campus. From it throughout our country's national existence generations of leaders have gone to every corner of the land bearing the torch of truth and of humanity. There is no more fitting site from which to survey the great problems and issues that now confront this nation.

"These Are Black Days"

"These are black days for the human race. These are ominous days for us in this country.

"There are at work in the world today powerful forces, the significance of which no individual and no nation can ignore without falling into a position of the gravest danger and of the utmost jeopardy. These forces are not new in the experience of mankind. They rose on many occasions in the past and, for varying periods and with varying intensity, held sway over human affairs. They spring today from the same source from which they have always sprung in the past—from godless and soulless lust for power which seeks to hold men in physical slavery and spiritual degradation and to displace a system of peaceful and orderly relations among nations by the anarchy of wanton violence and brute force.

"Fortunately these forces have not triumphed in every instance in which they have challenged human freedom and interrupted the advance of civilization. There are times in the lives of individuals and of nations when realization of mortal peril, far from making men recoil in horror and defeat, strengthens and ennobles the soul, gives indomitability to will and to courage, and leads to victory through suffering and sacrifice. History records many heartening instances when in this manner the forces of conquest, violence and oppression were hurled back and the onward march of civilization of man was resumed.

Desperate Needs

"Never before have these forces flung so powerful a challenge to freedom and civilization and progress as they are flinging today. Never before has there been a more desperate need for men and nations who love freedom and cherish the tenets of modern civilization to gather into an unconquerable defensive force, every element of their spiritual and material resources, every ounce of their moral and physical strength.

"We, Americans of today, have behind us a century and a half of national existence, to which we point with justifiable pride as a successful experiment in democracy and human freedom. That experiment began when a resplendent generation of Americans resolved to stake on its success their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honour. With unshakable faith in their cause and an unswerving determination to make it prevail, they risked their all for the creation of a nation in which each citizen would have—as his inalienable right—liberty under law, equality of opportunity, freedom of thought and of conscience. Those Americans believed unreservedly that in a nation founded upon these great principles the people could enjoy individually a far greater measure of well-being and happiness than is possible under any other form of political and social organization, and could achieve collectively degree of internal strength and unity of purpose necessary to ensure for the nation itself the inalienable right to manage its own affairs solely by the will of its own people.

Vindication of Faith

"A century and a half of active and at times tumultuous history have vindicated this faith. The nation which that generation of Americans founded lives today and has grown great and powerful beyond the fondest dreams of its founders. This has come about because, through the stresses and strains of internal adjustment and external conflict, succeeding generations of Americans have never faltered in their devotion to that faith and have rededicated themselves to it, freely and reverently; because in each generation there was sufficient resoluteness of spirit, tenacity of purpose, moral and physical courage, and capacity for unselfish sacrifice to accept individual and collective responsibility for the preservation of the principles upon which this nation was founded and upon which it has built its way of life.

"Our American history has not been achieved in isolation from the rest of mankind; there is no more dangerous folly than to think that its achievements can be preserved in isolation. It has been a part of a vast movement—in the old world as well as the new—which has opened new vistas in the destiny of man which has carried human progress to new and exalted heights; which has, through scientific attainment, lessened the tyranny over man of the blind forces of nature; which, as never before, has expanded for the human race as a whole the opportunity for freedom of mind and of spirit. To this great stream of new ideas, new attainments, new cultural values, we have made our contribution; and we ourselves in turn have been nourished by it.

Basis of Life Threatened

"The massed forces of lust for tyrannical power are directed today against the very basis of the way of life which has come to be the cherished ideals of a preponderant majority of mankind—against the moral, spiritual, social, political and economical foundations of modern civilization. Nation after nation has been crushed into surrender, overrun and enslaved by the exercise of brute force combined with fraud and guile. And as the dismal darkness beclouds upon more and more of the earth's surface, as its menacing shadow falls blacker and blacker athwart our continent, the very insistence of self preservation bids us beware.

"We have the power to meet that menace successfully if we at this time face the task which is before us in the same spirit in which former generations of Americans met the crises that confronted them in their times. We need material means of defence. These means we are determined to create, and we are creating them. But more than that is needed. Men will defend to the utmost only things in which they have complete faith. Those who took part in the struggle by which freedom was won for this nation would have found its hardness unbearable if they had not been imbued with transcendant faith in the things for which they fought. The task of preserving and defending freedom requires at times as stern and determined a struggle as the task of achieving freedom, and as firm a faith.

"No more vital test has ever confronted the American people than that which confronts it today. There are difficulties and dangerous times ahead. Our national independence and our cherished institutions are not immune from the challenge of the lust for power that already stalks so much of the earth's surface.

Sacrifices Required

"Unprecedented effort and heavy sacrifices will be required of us at the price of preserving for ourselves and for our posterity the kind of America that has been fostered and preserved for us by the vigilance, courage and sacrifice of those who preceded us. We shall succeed if we retain unimpaired the most precious heritage which they bequeathed us—an unshakable faith in the everlasting worship of freedom and honour, of truth and justice, of intellectual and spiritual integrity; and an immutable determination to give our all, if need be, for the preservation of our way of life. Without that faith and determination no material means of defence will suffice. With them we need fear no enemy outside or within our borders.

"In times of great crises there are always some who fall a prey to doubt and unreasoning fear; some who seek refuge in cynicism and narrow self interest; some who wrap themselves in the treacherous cloak of complacency. All these are dangers that lie within us. And these impair the faith and weaken the determination without which freedom cannot prevail.

Vision, Loyalty Called For

"Each and every one of us must search his mind and his heart for these signs of fatal weakness. The stern realities of the crisis which is upon us call as never before for vision and for loyalty. They call for all the strength of hand, of mind and of spirit that we can muster. They call for self restraint, for self-imposed and freely accepted discipline. They call for the kind of national unity that can be achieved only by free men, invincible in their resolve that human freedom must not perish. They call for unselfish service today if we are to win through to a secure and bright tomorrow.

"A responsibility seldom equalled in gravity and danger rests upon each and every one of us. Neglect or delay in assuming it willingly and fully would place in mortal danger our way of life and the sacred cause of human freedom. Were we to fail in that responsibility, we would fail ourselves; we would fail the generations that went before us; we would fail the generations that are to come after us; we would fail mankind; we would fail God.

"I am supremely confident that we shall not fail. I am certain that in the minds and hearts of our people still lie welling springs—inexhaustible and indestructible—of faith in the things we cherish, of courage and determination to defend them, of sacrificial devotion, of unalterable unity of purpose. I am certain that however great the hardships and the trials which loom ahead, our America will endure and the cause of human freedom will triumph."—United Press.

American Economic Bloc Favoured

Centralization of Exports May Be Arranged

Washington, June 21.

President Roosevelt has approved a report designed to provide for Pan-American economic unity through a broad programme centralizing exports of the Western hemisphere in one agency representing all countries.

The President's Secretary, Mr. Stephen Early, said that the President had directed the State Department to proceed with the plan and to sound out other American nations.

The plan would be put into effect promptly if it won their approval.

Canada would not be excluded.—Reuter.

Japanese Offices Gutted by Fire

Six Government Buildings In Tokyo Destroyed After Hits by Lightning

Tokyo, June 21.

Six Japanese Government offices, including the Finance Ministry, were destroyed by fire at midnight last night when several bolts of lightning struck the Government office quarter in Kojimachi Ward.

The blaze was believed to have been started by a thunderbolt which fell on the new building of the Aeronautics Bureau of the Communications Ministry at Otemachi, Kojimachi Ward, at 11 o'clock last night. The ensuing fire destroyed the entire building.

Fanned by a strong wind, the flames rapidly swept to other Government offices. Most of them were old wooden buildings which had been constructed following the great earthquake in 1923.

The fire gutted the building of the Finance Ministry, the Manchurian Affairs Bureau and the Planning Board of the Cabinet, as well as the newly-built Revenue Superintendent's Office and the annex of the Welfare Ministry. The flames were brought under control at 12.10 o'clock this morning.

Despite the rapidity with which the flames spread, all important Government papers escaped damage as the employees of the offices removed them to safety.

Government offices which were destroyed in the fire had moved this morning to temporary offices and were carrying on business as usual.

In order to cover the damage caused by the fire, the regular Cabinet meeting today will examine the question thoroughly.—Domei.

Japan-Soviet Fishery Agreement Sought

Negotiations to Settle Problems Likely

Tokyo, June 21.

Indications that the long-pending fisheries question between Japan and the U.S.S.R. will be discussed in earnest became more apparent today with the receipt by the Japanese Foreign Office yesterday of notification from the Japanese Embassy at Moscow that the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Mr. Viacheslav M. Molotov, had promised to make determined efforts to open negotiations in the near future for the conclusion of a new Soviet-Japanese fisheries pact.

The Soviet Foreign Commissar's promise was conveyed to the Japanese Ambassador at Moscow, Mr. Shigenori Togo. Mr. Togo on Monday called on the Foreign Commissar, M. Molotov and requested the Soviet Government to prepare a draft pact which might be used as a basis of discussions.

It was recalled that the Japanese Government, at the beginning of the year, presented to the Soviet Government a draft accord as a preparatory step to the conclusion of a long-term fisheries agreement. Since that time the Tokyo Government had been asking for a Soviet draft pact.

Diplomatic observers here, meanwhile, predicted that negotiations on other problems pending between the two Governments soon will be opened.

It was added that negotiations on the Soviet-Japanese trade agreement, which have been conducted since January, will assume definite shape as Mr. Togo and Mr. Anastas Mikoyan, Foreign Trade Commissar, are expected to discuss concrete terms shortly.—Domei.

Mussolini Editorial Incident Settled

"Japan Advertiser" Expresses Regrets

Tokyo, June 21.

Bringing to an end a bitter but short international incident which threatened to develop into a duel of honour between Count Macchi de Cellere, First Secretary of the Italian Embassy here, and Mr. Wilfred Fleisher, managing editor of the local English-language paper "Japan Advertiser," the paper published an apology this morning declaring, "We regret that yesterday's editorial entitled 'Mussolini's Role' should have given offence to a member of the Italian community."

Mr. Yakichiro Suma, Japanese Foreign Office spokesman, in a brief comment during today's conference with the foreign press, declared that the matter had been settled amicably. He announced that the American Ambassador, Mr. Joseph C. Grew, had called on the Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Masayuki Tani, yesterday afternoon and had formally informed him that the matter had been settled.—Domei.

And Police Curiosity Unearths the Reason

Tokyo, June 20.

"Curiosity" on the part of the Tokyo Police has led to the uncovering of an ingenious scheme to smuggle rice from the countryside into the city.

Japanese men and women who profess a sudden overwhelming love for the beauties of the countryside have of late been leaving the capital regularly for brief hikes to villages in the vicinity. These hikes, according to the police, turn out to be more than pleasure jaunts, however, for the hikers return with knapsacks full of rice.

This small scale smuggling directly contravenes regulations governing the transfer of rice from one prefecture to another. As a result, 56 "hikers" have been caught redhanded, each carrying a load of between 5 and 24 quarts of rice.—Havas.

Children Evacuation Scheme Accepted

Movement to Be Carried Out Gradually

London, June 21.

All the Dominions concerned have accepted the scheme for the evacuation of British children to the Dominions, it was authoritatively stated here last night.

Liaison officers are being established at the London headquarters of the scheme. When the doors opened at 9 a.m. yesterday, a queue of 3,000 people was waiting.

It is explained that the scheme does not contemplate the dispatch of masses overseas, but will proceed on an orderly expanding scale, week by week. It is not regarded as a substitute for the Government's major policy of evacuating children to places within Great Britain. The scope of the scheme will be limited by offers made by the Dominions, and by the shipping facilities available. The suggestion of an evacuation of schools en bloc is regarded as entirely impracticable.

Committee in U.S.

New York, June 21.

A nation-wide committee to help provide homes in the United States for refugee children from Europe was formed here today and placed under the honorary chairmanship of Mrs. Roosevelt.

More than thirty-two child and social welfare groups are represented in the committee.

The committee's programme included co-operation with Canada in aiding children now in France from invaded countries.

A spokesman pointed out that funds would be used to guarantee the State Department that the children would be looked after and given temporary homes while permanent domiciles would be sought.—Havas.

Japan Satisfied by French Action

Acceptance of Indo-China Request Commented

Tokyo, June 21.

Satisfaction over the acceptance by the French authorities of the Japanese request for the cessation of the transportation of war materials to Chungking through French Indo-China was expressed by the Foreign Office spokesman, Mr. Yakichiro Suma, to members of the foreign press during today's regular conference.

Replying to a query as to whether or not the French Indo-China embroglio had been settled with the French acceptance of the Japanese requests, the spokesman declared that he hoped that the matter would be arranged satisfactorily.

He added that Japan will have officials on the spot to investigate transportation conditions. The spokesman declared that no definite arrangements have been made with reference to the number of inspectors and the localities to where they would be sent.

Such matters, he added, would be settled between the Japanese Consul-General at Hanoi and the French Government-General of Indo-China. The spokesman denied that Japanese Government had approached the British Government with a request for the suspension of arms transit to China through Burma.—Domei.

Tientsin Diplomats To Confer

Details of Settlement To Be Worked Out

Peking, June 21.

Details and technical matters relating to the preservation of peace and order, and economic problems following the lifting of the Japanese blockade of the British and French Concessions at Tientsin will be discussed at a conference among the Japanese, British and French Consuls-General at Tientsin, which is expected to be held shortly.

Matters relating to the custody of the silver bullion and currency deposited in the British and French Concessions and the purchase of commodities as a relief measure for Chinese refugees, which were agreed upon by Japan, Britain and France, will be studied by a committee to be formed by the representatives of the three countries as well as those from the North China Political Affairs Commission.—Domei.

Hongkew Stalls Take Trade from Shops

Local Japanese are spending Y.220,000 monthly at the many street stalls in the Hongkew area according to an estimate made by the Hongkew area according to an estimate made by the Social Affairs Department of the Japanese Residents' Corporation. the "Tairiku Shimpo" reported yesterday.

Daily necessaries, such as underclothing, socks, cotton piece goods and other commodities are being sold at the stalls.

Officials of the Japanese Residents' Corporation feared that the increasing number of Chinese street stalls, which are a distinct menace to traffic, will seriously affect sales in regular Japanese stores, the daily said.

According to the estimates made by the Social Affairs Department, 243 stalls are opened every day for business in the Hongkew area alone. Of these, 107 sell cotton goods, 50 sell cloth, 18, second-hand shoes: 14, picture postcards; 11, cigarette holders and glasses, and 43 miscellaneous items.

"Deficiency of information in Japanese English-language newspapers is completed very successfully by an English newspaper in Kobe The Japan Chronicle . . on its pages can often be found criticisms of the political and economic actions of the Japanese Government and various other information which gives the opportunity to observe and to analyse the Japanese economic situation. In addition to the usual material obtainable from all the Japanese English-language newspapers, The Japan Chronicle gives a very detailed and comprehensive review of the foreign trade of Japan. It regularly prints statistics pertaining to Japanese exports and the state of the home market."—Extracts from U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce Journal.
